BRICKER'S FOE STEPS OUT OF PRIMARY RACE

Thacher's Action Leaves Governor Unopposed for G.O.P. Nomination.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 5—Withdrawal of Addison Q. Thacher as Senator Bricker's only opponent for the Republican gubernatorial nomination left the party's state central committee free today to concentrate on its unprecedented campaign to nominate Clarence M. Neffner for secretary of state.

Neffner is the only Republican incumbent in state office facing opposition in the May 14 primary. He succeeded the late Earl Griffith as the state organization's choice for the position too late to qualify for a place on the ballot. He is opposed by Edward J. Hummel, of Cincinnati.

The only other state office for which there remains a Republican primary contest is that occupied by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, a Democrat. Seven Republicans are seeking the auditor nomination and none has been indorsed by the state committee.

The Republicans are contesting for two congress-at-large seats, three for the United States senate nomination and three for nomination for the Jan. 1 term on the Ohio supreme court.

Quits Before Deadline

Thacher, a Toledo city councilman, withdrew only a few hours before the deadline, asserting that promised support failed to materialize and that he believed "personal ambitions and differences should be subordinated to public welfare."

The field seeking the Democratic nomination for governor was reduced to seven by the last-minute withdrawal of James R. Marker of Columbus, former state highway director.

Marker issued a statement taken as an indirect boost for former Gov. George White of Marietta who is one of the seven candidates. Marker said he hoped the nominee would be one who could prevent "factional strife" and be entitled to support of all Democrats because of his "party regularity."

White is known as a staunch advocate of "party regularity" and former Gov. Davey, another candidate, was a party to "factional strife" during the 1938 campaign.

Four Democrats seeking the gubernatorial nomination spoke at a rally in Jackson last night. On the program were Davey,

MARION MAN INJURED IN MISHAP AT FARM

Lester Lowry Lands on Fork Handle; Condition Critical.

Lester Lowry, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lowry of 560 North Prospect street suffered a serious rectal injury yesterday while he was helping bale hay at the Charles Kaelber farm one mile east of Caledonia on the Caledonia-Climax road.

The attending physician said today he regarded Lowry's condition as critical. Lowry is at City hospital, suffering severe shock in addition to the injury, the physician reported.

About 7:30 yesterday morning Lowry, Marion Makeever, 20, James Makeever, 19, James Russell, 18, Everal Burggraf, 18, and Herbert Rice, 20, all of Marion, who have been operating a hay baling outfit in the vicinity of Caledonia, started to work at the Kaelber farm.

They had worked about an hour when the baler needed cleaning and Marion Makeever, who operates the tractor which runs the baler, stopped the machine.

Lowry, who had been in the hay mow helping James Makeever pitch the hay down into the baler, said he wanted some fresh air and stuck his pitchfork in the hay before he climbed the ladder to the window at the top of the barn.

When the baler was cleaned and the tractor was ready to start, Lowry started down the ladder. According to Marion and James Makeever, he decided to jump when he was about eight feet above the ray and when he landed he struck the handle of the pitchfork.

Marion Makeever brought him to his home here but Lowry did not believe he was hurt badly and remained at home throughout the morning. At noon a member of the family prevailed on him to have a physician called and when the physician arrived and made a preliminary examination he ordered Lowry to the hospital. The injury caused severe hemorrhages, the physician said, and Lowry's temperature rose considerably above normal.

The hay baler is owned by H. E. Burggraf of 428 Thompson street, father of Everal Burggraf, who has been working with the group of young men.

Girl Unmoved by Murder Tragedy

Above is pictured 11-year-old Chloe Davis, called cold-blooded and calm by investigators who are trying to piece together the mysterious slaying of her mother, a brother and two sisters. Investigators say the girl has admitted "conking" her mother and brother with a claw hammer but insists the mother killed the other children. She is pictured in a receiving hospital at Los Angeles. GIRL ADMITS KILLING TWO

"Hard Boiled" Child Denies Murder of Two Younger Sisters in West.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, April 5—Chloe Davis, 11, described by an amazed psychiatrist as "the cruelest-blooded, coolest individual I ever met," told police today with a mixture of slang that she beat to death her mother and baby brother but insisted the fatal bludgeoning of two younger sisters was done previously by the mother.

Interrupting only to demand bottled beer and lemon pie, the 80-pound, strong-armed girl led questioning officers through conflicting versions during which she referred to her grocery manager father as "nuts" and her anemic mother as a believer in "demons."

Police Captain Edgar Edwards expressed belief that the girl, an avid book reader with the imaginative mind of a 16-year-old, alone was responsible for the deaths of Mrs. Lolita Bjorkman Davis, 36, Daphne, 10, Deborah Ann, 7, and Marquis (Mark), 3, in the blood-spotted Davis home in southwest Los Angeles yesterday.

Girl Tells Story

The girl's latest story was that her mother killed the little girls, then tried to burn herself on a mattress but failed and Chloe then "conked" the woman with a claw hammer at the mother's request. After that, the girl said she beat her moaning brother to death.

The flippant, sixth-grade youngster was held on a suspicion of murder booking after she unhesitatingly led officers through the blood-splattered rooms.

Captain Edwards said he anticipated an early solution of the brutal death drama, with helpful questioning of the girl by her father, Barton Davis, 51, who moved here with his family five years ago from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dr. Paul De River, police psychiatrist, after questioning Chloe, a sixth-grade student he described as above average intelligence, said he considered her "the cruelest-blooded, coolest individual I ever met."

The girl was described by one police matron as having "a face like an angel's."

"Chloe is a precocious youngster. She acts like a girl of 15 or 16 years of age. She is a child of

Doctors Declare Unhappiness Can Cause Sickness

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CLEVELAND, O., April 5 — Social illness, a new medical term which describes persons who are sick for no other reason than unhappiness over their environment, was recognized today by the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Edward Weiss of Temple University, Philadelphia, said that a third of those who see a doctor do not have any definite bodily disease to account for their illness, and another third seem to have symptoms that are partly due to emotions.

"The ill health," he said, "arises from long-standing dissatisfaction in the business, social or home life of the individual and this failure of adjustment to environment is manifested by a disturbance in some part of the personality, either as bodily symptoms of of various kinds, capable of mimicking almost any disease, or as affectations of the spirit."

Flanders Dunbar of Columbia university, said that emotions are capable of affecting not only the heart and digestive system but the whole network of blood vessels.

A study of 1,500 persons admitted to the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical center for cardiovascular disease, diabets, broken bones and allergy showed that approximately 80 per cent were affected by some psychic factor that probably contributed to the illness.

4TH OFFENSE DRUNK DRIVING TRIAL CLOSES

Testimony Completed; Deliberations Begun at 11 A. M.

A municipal court jury this afternoon was weighing evidence in the trial of Clarence (Banty) Walker, 53, of Oak Ridge court, who recently was arrested for the fourth time on a drunken driving charge.

Testimony in the trial which was started yesterday was completed about 10 a. m. and the case went to the jury an hour later. After jurors deliberated more than an hour, Municipal Judge Hazen ordered a recess for lunch.

Yesterday afternoon, members of the police department took the witness stand to testify to circumstances surrounding Walker's arrest on the drunken driving charge March 26 in which they declared they saw the car zigzagging on Silver street. Dr. M. M. Weinbaum testified Walker was intoxicated when examined at the police station.

Testifying for Walker were 11 persons who said they saw Walker in the Stag cafe, which he operates, a short time before his arrest and that he was not intoxicated when they saw him.

During the afternoon testimony the jury went to the scene of the arrest, on a motion of Defense Attorney Grant E. Mouser Jr. Mr. Mouser pointed out that rough spots in the pavement might have caused the car to zig-zag.

KEEP BEETLE QUARANTINE

WASHINGTON, April 5—Five Ohio counties have been designated by the agriculture department for continuance of federal Japanese beetle quarantine and other areas. Student Strike at Marysville Is Threatened

Loss of Superintendent Brings Protest from Pupils, P.-T.A.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, April 5—Reaction to the resignation of F. G. Bittikofer, veteran superintendent of the Marysville schools, yesterday brought a threat from senior high school students that they would "strike" unless the board rejected his resignation and offered him a new two-year contract.

Sentiment favoring Mr. Bittikofer also was running high in several adult groups. Last night, in a special meeting, the executive board of the Marysville P.-T. A. adopted a resolution urging the board to re-employ Mr. Bittikofer and petitions were being circulated throughout the Marysville business district today.

Mr. Bittikofer announced his resignation Tuesday afternoon following a meeting of the board of education Monday night at which it was indicated that he would not be offered a new contract when his present term ends Aug. 1.

The threat of a strike flared suddenly at the senior high school yesterday after several days of discussion among student groups.

Walkout Averted

Yesterday morning, spokesmen for the students said, word was passed around among the students that there would be a schoolwide "walk-out" at 2 p. m. but before the "zero hour" members of the faculty heard of the proposal and intervened.

Shortly after noon, a conference was held between representatives of the faculty and eight student leaders and before time for the "strike" this joint group called an assembly of the entire student body.

At this meeting, held in the school auditorium, several student leaders urged the "strike" and it was only after pleadings of faculty members, Mayor William Asman and a handful of seniors that the students finally agreed to remain in school.

However, the students did circulate petitions throughout the junior and senior high schools and sent a delegation of eight students to call on all of the board members. The petitions were signed by 436 of the school's 440 students, school leaders said. The petitions were to be presented to Dr. P. D. Longbrake, president of the board, today.

P.-T. A. Resolution

The resolution passed by the P.-T. A. board last night was signed by all 11 members of the board, including Mayor Asman, who also is chairman of the board. A copy of this resolution was to be presented to Dr. Longbrake sometime today, members said. The resolution urged the re-employment of Mr. Bittikofer "inasmuch as he has served the Marysville schools faithfully and efficiently for the last 16 years during which time they have achieved a high standard of scholarship and attainment."

Members of the school board have made no official statement as to the reason for refusing to offer Mr. Bittikofer a new contract but members have said "off the record" that they believe he should retire inasmuch as he was eligible to retire on a pension two years ago. Mr. Bittikofer has expressed the desire to serve as superintendent for two more years at which time his youngest daughter will be graduated from the high school.

NORMAN THOMAS LIKELY TO BE SOCIALIST NOMINEE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—Members of the Socialist party began registering today for their national convention, with indications pointing to another uncontested presidential nomination for Norman Thomas of New York.

Thomas, 55, an ordained Presbyterian minister, writer and lecturer, was the party's standard bearer in the last three quadrennial elections.

Party members said he hoped to make it four straight. The late Eugene V. Debs of Indiana, first Socialist candidate for president—in 1900—holds the record. He was on the ballot five times.

57 Win Places in Honor Society of Rural Schools

32 Seniors, 25 Juniors Honored at Annual Banquet; Selections Made by Members of Faculties.

Fifty-seven students in the Marion county rural schools received recognition for outstanding school records at the annual banquet of the Marion County Honor society at the Masonic Temple Wednesday night.

Places were laid for 132, including the members of the society, faculty members and their wives.

Dr. H. Gordon Hullfish of the department of education at Ohio State university spoke on "Citizenship."

Basis of Selection

Membership in the society is based on academic standing, character and leadership and the students are selected by members of faculties of the county schools. Membership certificates were presented to the group by D. T. Mills, county superintendent, who presided.

Seniors elected to membership are: William Douce and Glenn Dale Stakey, both of Martel; Eleanor Grant and Sarah Mae Schlecht, both of Agosta; Maude Steen, Carrol Starner and Fern Miller, all of Morral; Anne Gatewood and Jacob Retterer, both of Claridon; Helen Coulter, Catharine Robertson and Annabelle Pommert, all of Caledonia; Louise Brown, Dorothy Appelfelier, Jean McMaster, Martha Lois White and Robert Brelsford, all of LaRue; Jeanette Wolfinger, Annette Boyd and Esther Key, all of Pleasant township; Florabell Anderson and Eva Noggle, both of Meeker; Louise Augenstein, Ray Schweinfurth and Donna Belle Cook, all of Waldo; Doris Oesterle, Ava Haberman and Norma Goodsen, all of Green Camp; and Donald Dodrill, Erma Louise Drake, Fred Lauer and Evan Evans, all of Prospect.

Junior Members

Juniors named are: Marjorie Burkhardt of Martel; Donna James, Donald James and Edna Keller, all of Agosta; Robert Messenger of Morral; Virginia Pace of Claridon; Robert Haas and Arden Cover, both of Caledonia; Margaret Lingo, Peggy Jean Keefe and Raydn Roux, all of LaRue; Mary Ellen Mayers, Maureen Zachman and Gene Johnson, all of Pleasant township; Luella Sims of Meeker; Thelma Stoner, Patricia Howard and Ruth Kaelber, all of Waldo; Vernon Beaver and Annalue Zahn, both of Green Camp; Ralph Weir of Kirkpatrick; and William Shuey, Pauline Kline, Betty Perry and James Long, all of Prospect.

Plans for the banquet were in charge of the honor society's council composed of the following faculty members: Gail Ferrik of Kirkpatrick, president; Miss Evelyn Tron of Agosta, vice president; Miss Fern Patterson of Green Camp, secretary-treasurer; G. W. Cox of Caledonia, Miss Winifred Kiesler of Claridon, C. D. Pilkington of LaRue, Kenneth Knuggs of Meeker, Miss Gwendolyn Wagner of Morral, Miss Gladys Uncapher of Pleasant township, H. C. Secrest of Prospect, Vayne Gallnday of Martel and Miss Mildred Hecker of Waldo.

Jail Ordered In Cahill Case at Upper Sandusky

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 5—Common Pleas Judge Russell H. Kear today found William Cahill of Columbus, accused of posing as a "fixer" of state liquor permits, guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses, sentenced him to 30 days in jail and fined him $100 and costs.

The judge's action came this morning after completion yesterday afternoon of a two-day hearing of charges against Cahill. There was no audience to speak of in the courtroom at any time.

Cahill's attorney, Russel Price of Upper Sandusky, announced no plans for appealing the judge's decision.

Cahill was found guilty only on one count of the information. There were three counts altogether. The other two, one charging Cahill with impersonating a state liquor inspector and one with selling his services in connection with securing liquor permits, are still pending. It is believed no further action will be taken on them, however. The judge today overruled a defense motion to strike out the court charging that Cahill sold his services.

Denies All Charges

Taking the stand in his own defense yesterday, Cahill denied that he impersonated a state liquor inspector, obtained money under false pretenses and sold his services.

The state accused him of selling his services to "fix" permits with the state board of liquor control and with selling membership in the State Liquor Dealers, Inc. Cahill said he was the only officer of the company.

SMITH, IN BROADCAST, CRITICIZES NEW DEAL

Congressman Hits at Political Control, Calls for Freedom.

The New Deal is leading the country toward Communism by substituting political control and ownership of property for private enterprise, Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion declared last night in a radio talk broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting system.

His talk, which was given from 6:15 to 6:30, is one of a series of radio speeches sponsored by the Republican national committee.

Dr. Smith spoke from the studios of station WJSV, the CBS affiliate in Washington, D. C. He was introduced by a station announcer.

Speaking on the subject, "Free Enterprise Is the Issue," Congressman Smith contrasted the communistic and democratic forms of government and declared that under the New Deal leadership United States is drifting communistic policies.

OPPOSES LIMIT ON TRADE PLAN

President Declares Extension of Only One Year Would Be Harmful.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—President Roosevelt said today he believed it would be very harmful to the nation if the bill to extend the reciprocal trade treaty act were limited to one year.

The Chief Executive spoke at a press conference shortly after it was reported on excellent authority that Vice President Garner was supporting an amendment to limit extension of the administration's trade agreements program to one year.

Legislation near final senate action, already approved by the house, would extend the program for three years from June 12.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was not good for the country to have a scrap over tariffs coming up every year.

In the first year of whatever administration comes in in 1941, he said, it would be very harmful to the United States to have to bring up the trade treaty issue again. That was true, he declared, whether it would be a Republican or Democratic administration, a Republican or Democratic congress, and regardless of who the individual may be who will head the national administration next year.

When a tariff is up for consideration, he said, agriculture and industry are in a state of confusion because they do not know what is going to be done, and economic activity of the country feels the effect.

Garner, it was said, held a series of conversations with senators to urge support of the one-year amendment offered by opponents of the trade legislation in a last-ditch effort to impose at least one restriction on administration trade powers.

Administration leaders declined to comment on Garner's stand, and Garner himself refused to affirm or deny the reports.

Democratic Leader Barkley predicted that the amendment would be defeated, however. He also that the proposal, if enacted, would cripple the trade agreements program.

Aviation Boosters To Launch Cruise Season April 14

Opening cruise of the season for the Marion Aviation Boosters club has been scheduled for Sunday, April 14, when the members will fly to Findlay, it was announced today.

The cruises, which serve a varied purpose, were inaugurated shortly after the club was organized. They are designed not only to create goodwill among the airmen of the state and for sport but also to give flying experience to the members.

Eight ships are to make the flight to Findlay, leaving Marion airport at 9 a. m. and returning about noon.

Lee Grimell of near Richwood is flight commander for the season. Other cruises will be announced at other Ohio cities later.

FARMERS AIR VIEWS IN POLL

Conflicting Opinions Voiced Before Vote Puts End to Controversy.

By a vote of three to two, the city health board yesterday afternoon voted against a proposed new city milk code providing for grading of milk. At the same time it unanimously rejected a plumbing code recommended by a group of Marion plumbers several weeks ago.

Action on the much-debated milk code proposal came in a regular meeting at the close of a lengthy conference with farmers and dairymen, the second the board has held in the last month. Voting against the code were Mrs. Henry Kramer, M. L. Wrenn and Fred White. Dr. J. W. Bull and Mrs. Carl Miller voted for the code.

Mayor Snare, chairman of the board, presided but did not take part in the voting.

Dairymen Heard

Preceding the vote, a delegation of dairymen appeared before the board, which met in the mayor's office, and voiced objections to the code. Paul H. Lawrence, president of the Marion County Milk Producers association, presented cards signed by 350 farmers indicating they were opposed to the code. One farmer said he favored its adoption. The board also heard a letter from C. H. Isely, president of the Isely Dairy Co., urging that the code be adopted.

The principal objection voiced by the dairymen present at the meeting and the board members opposed to the code was that it would result in an unnecessary expense to farmers and dairymen, since it would be necessary for them to make changes in production methods and in most cases require them to remodel their barns and milk houses. They also described the code as "regimentation" and declared that Marion already is being supplied with "good milk" under the present code.

On the other hand, board members favoring the code took the position that the code would improve the quality of Marion's milk by encouraging farmers and dairymen to use more modern and more sanitary methods in milk production and that it would establish the basis for labelling milk as "Grade A," "Grade B" or "Grade C," thus assuring the public of better than average quality when they purchase milk under a "Grade A" label.

Doctors Indicate Favor

Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, and Dr. J. T. Gruber, milk division inspector, were present for the entire meeting and while neither took an active part in the discussion both indicated in answers to questions that they believed the new code would be beneficial.

The question of labelling was brought up even after the board rejected the code and Dr. Bull declared that "some action should be taken by the board so that the public will not think they're getting a standard 'Grade A' milk when they're not."

Immediately after the vote, Dr. Bull proposed a resolution that dairies be prohibited from labelling their milk "Grade A," stating that "if we're not going to have the code then we should at least do something about this labelling question."

A lengthy discussion resulted over the wording of the resolution and steps which could be taken to enforce it. Finally, Dr. Bull withdrew the resolution "for the present" when other board members suggested that it might be wise to confer with the city solicitor before taking any definite action.

Letter Quoted

Members also referred to the letter received from Mr. Isely in which he said his company planned to stop labelling its milk "Grade A" until the code was adopted and the opinion was expressed by several members that other dairies also would voluntarily stop using the labels.

Following is the section of Mr. Isely's letter relating to the labelling question:

"We have been selling a special milk for more than 15 years labelled 'Grade A.' This name was selected as a private brand long before the name 'Grade A' was used nationally. We cannot ethic-

Job as Legislator Pays Student's College Costs

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 5—C. William (Bill) O'Neill, 23-year-old Marietta Republican who has been working his way through college by serving as an Ohio legislator, wants another two-year term.

O'Neill, barely past voting age when elected to the house of representatives two years ago, gets $2,000 a year from his state position to help pay his way through Ohio State university's law school. He's unopposed for renomination in the May 14 primary.

Two years ago Billy O'Neill divided his time between matriculating from Marietta college and waging a blistering campaign in which he defeated Herbert U. Smith, veteran Democratic incumbent, and wound up as his party' top vote-getter in Washington county.

Marietta politicians say O'Neill is a cinch for reelection. He once was coxswain on the Marietta crew and captained the debate team two years.

Doctors Report Mice Source of New Brain Disease

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 4—Discovery of a new brain disease which is transmitted to human beings through mice was reported today to the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Dr. Charles Armstrong, senior surgeon of the national institute of health said that the ailment is a form of choriomeningitis, a disorder caused by a virus infection of the outer coverings of the brain.

It often resembles a common cold or the flu in its early stages, he declared but after the cold symptoms have passed, sudden severe headaches, vomiting and stiffness of the neck occur.

Some persons also develop conspicuous sleepiness, disturbance of nerve reflexes, paralysis and partial deadening of the nerves in parts of the body.

Infected mice apparently do not need to bite a human or even come in contact with him to spread the virus, Dr. Armstrong said, because the disease has been found in persons who only had cleaned a shed overrun by mice and in laboratory workers working around mouse cages.

Treatment is usually spinal fluid drainage. Victims recover spontaneously with an immunity which lasts for months and perhaps years.

Excerpts from Address

...the talk follows:

...ming national election ...opinion be the most ...ur history. The im... to be decided will be ...nation shall continue ...n of free men, able ...freely in pursuits of ...ppiness, subject only ...s as shall keep them ...ring upon each other, ...this nation shall be... ...mented people under a ...form of government, ...ght of private owner... ...perty be abolished and ...by political owner... ...is the real issue before ...today.

...the last few years there ...ved in our country ...sentimen: against ...m which is continually ...easing expression. The ...s now become wide... ...communism is def... ...menace and must be ... Congress has given this matter recognition and has enacted legislation to check it.

Peculiarly, nearly all the discussion relating to this question, and the efforts made to stop this cult, are based on the assumption that communism is something that is being imposed upon our nation from the outside. The theory is that it is of alien origin, in the sense of being imported from other countries, particularly Russia.

This is, in my judgment, a false notion, which needs to be exposed lest we remain ignorant of the facts, which cannot help but seriously hinder us from properly dealing with this serious menace.

Origin of Schemes

It is perhaps true that some of the communistic schemes that are promoted in our country have their origin and stimulus in Russia. But it should be plain to anyone who gives the matter a little thought that this is a comparatively small part of the communistic movement now under way. It should not require much thought to convince us that by far the greater part of this program is alien to us, not in the sense of being imported from some other land, but only in the sense of proceeding from forces outside of the American system of free enterprise. Those forces, as I shall endeavor to show, originate not only mainly within our own geographic boundaries, but they originate also within our own economy, and what are considered to be our duly constituted institutions and government.

In my opinion the subversive elements to be feared in this country are not the Communist party and its allied organizations parading under false names. Nor do the leaders of this cult live in obscure and dark subterranean haunts of illicit intrigue.

As I see it, their abode is right on top of the earth, in the sunshiny open view all about us, in respectable places.

Faith in Labels

We are blinded to these facts principally because we are apt to put too much faith in labels. This is one of man's great weaknesses. Too often we mistake a label for the thing labeled. Moreover, labels often remain the same, while the things they label change and become something else from what they were when originally labeled. This is especially true of political organizations and systems. A good example of this is the change in meaning that has taken place in the terms illiberal and liberal. When they first came into use in England in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the illiberal, or conservative as he was also called, advocated political control and ownership of industry, and high taxes. The liberal was against those things. He stood for private control and ownership of property, for lower taxes, for free enterprise.

See now how the meanings of these two terms have completely reversed themselves. Today the liberal stands for political control and ownership of property, for high taxes. The illiberal, or reactionary as he is also called, stands for private ownership, low taxes, free enterprise.

The Tory has become the liberal, and the liberal the Tory.

The great difficulty we have in recognizing the main source of communism is that most of us are woefully ignorant as to what communism really is. We, therefore, fail to recognize it when we see it.

Communism Defined

"Communism," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica, is "the name loosely given to schemes of social organizations depending on the abolition of private property and its absorption into the property of the community as such." Marx defined it simply as "the abolition of private property."

The essential thing about Communism is, therefore, the abolition of private property, and its political control and ownership. That is what communism is, regardless of the banner under which it sails, or from whence it comes.

Let us forget labels, then, and search for the thing itself. Certainly we do not need to go far, or greatly exert our energies, to find plenty of it. Our material is plentiful in the many novel and revolutionary programs put in operation by the New Deal in the last seven years.

So confused and numerous have been those schemes that it has been impossible for most of us to fully understand them and what they signify. However, just a little analysis of these schemes will greatly clarify this whole situation.

Just what is the New Deal?

What is the nature of the ostensible remedies it has been using to cure our sick economy?

How have they worked?

New Deal Measures

Examine all the New Deal recovery measures and you will find each sets up a board or bureau, and a multitude of political jobs.

Examine what each one of these agencies actually does and you will find it engaged almost wholly in drawing blood, taxes, from one part of the economic body and reinjecting that same blood, taxes, into another part of the same economic body. But it isn't quite as simple as that. There's just a little trick in it. Having drawn into their syringes blood from one part of the economic body, the New Deal economic doctors inject as much of the blood as they can into their own veins, and what is left they inject into another part of the economic body.

Examine any or all of the New Deal recovery measures, up and down, in and out, crosswise or otherwise, and you will find that is essentially what the New Deal is.

Hence we see our sick economic body shriveling up, and the political body ballooning out, getting bigger and bigger.

A multitude of bureaus and about 500,000 new political jobs, at a cost of one billion dollars a year, have been created to operate this enterprise-destroying and political power-building machine.

Money Program

Consider the money program. Is there any essential difference between the political confiscation of our gold money and forcing us to use a political promise-to-pay money, and the political confiscation by the Communists in Russia of their hard money and forcing their people to use a political promise-to-pay money?

The United States housing authority scheme, which is well under way proposes to abolish private ownership of 4 to 6 million homes. It proposes to confiscate by taxation not less than 40 billion dollars to build and maintain politically owned homes. It is not true these houses are owned by the community in which they are built. They are owned by the federal government the same as post offices and other federal buildings. What possibly could be more communistic than political ownership of our homes, the most sacred possession of the family?

The TVA

So we could go on and show who other New Deal agencies are communistic. The TVA is communism. So are many of the activities of the 30 government corporations that have been formed.

The New Deal spending machine has now become a veritable Frankenstein that is out of control, whose yawning jaws demand more and ever more money to spend. The federal debt keeps zooming upward and threatens us more and more with national bankruptcy. Should this occur, totalitarianism will be the result, with the complete destruction of private property.

The issue before the American people is clear. Communism or free enterprise. Nor is there any half way ground. We must have one or the other. We cannot exist half slave and half free.

It was like a spring ...nic to have my ...ills all paid."

Have you ever sat up all night with a sick budget? Then you can appreciate just how much good a healthy loan will do you. It squares debts, buys bargains, puts your family finances in order. You can pay old bills and make new purchases, all at the same time and have only one place to pay.

In fact you can often cut your monthly payments in half. That's what makes a loan well-worth its cost. And the cost itself is included right in your small payments... Take the matter in your hands and see how we can help with a loan to cure those financial jitters.

7,500 Women Can't Be Wrong

WHAT the women of the country could do if they ever got their dander up has fascinated many a political speculator. Probably it never will happen on a national scale.

But apparently it did happen locally in Kansas City, where women are given much of the credit for a fusion victory over the weakened Pendergast machine. According to Associated Press, 7,500 of them put on their aprons and staged a municipal housecleaning.

It continues to be true that women are not fulfilling what many thought was going to be their political destiny as officeholders. Skeptics argue they aren't even fulfilling it as voters. But that argument starts with the assumption that women are inferior to men politically because they have not proved themselves superior. By the same argument, men voters are inferior to women because they haven't proved themselves superior, either.

When, since women gained the right to vote, has it been said that 7,500 men rolled up their sleeves and housecleaned anything? Perhaps it takes the housecleaning idea to make politics seem real and earnest to the sex that ceases to be gentle when equipped with a wad of paper cleaner and a bucket of soapy water.

Changing World Note

SEN. CLARK'S notion that diplomats are as out of date as whip sockets on automobile dashboards and therefore should be abolished doesn't testify to the prestige of diplomacy in a changing world.

As the senator says, diplomats aren't needed any more because the heads of governments can communicate with one another by radio, telephone and telegraph and do not need spokesmen. Like congressmen, diplomats no longer need to stand on their own feet, but are in touch at all times with the source of their authority.

However, as is the case with congressmen, it may be questioned whether the new way is an improvement. A well trained, conscientious diplomat is a precious asset of the government that employs him. When his patient labors can be obliterated by a decision made thousands of miles away by a politician who may be unfamiliar with the situation, it is decidedly not a change for the better.

Perhaps a diplomat stationed in a foreign capitol is excess baggage in the streamlined state and should be shucked off to avoid confusion, but the need for good diplomats, wherever stationed, is as great as it ever was. The newest European war—result of diplomacy's latest failure—proves there is an unsatisfied demand for a higher grade of diplomacy.

Shadow Boxing

INTERPRETATIONS placed on primaries bear a strong family resemblance to "dope" stories from the training camps of prizefighters. The challenger looked unbeatable today while skipping rope and working out on the heavy bag. The champion was in fine form and knocked two sparring partners completely out of the ring.

Wisconsin's primary was important. Some of the important figures were going to lift weights, among them Vice President Garner, District Attorney Dewey and Sen. Vandenberg. The reigning champion, President Roosevelt, was going to put on an exhibition too. The weather turned bad, the Republicans pulled a lot of votes, Mr. Roosevelt got more Democratic votes than Mr. Garner, and Mr. Dewey looked better than Mr. Vandenberg.

On the strength of what happened on a rainy Tuesday in Wisconsin, where old Bob LaFollette is the only politician ever worth his salt, the experts now know exactly how everything will turn out next November. It's a gift.

The Fuehrer Knows Best

FIELD MARSHAL GOERING'S breast beating and sword rattling, relayed to the United States by the grace of German censorship, probably balance lately reported declines in British and French morale. Some reason must exist for prodding German morale at this particular time.

There is no explanation, otherwise, for the No. 2 Nazi telling fledgling airmen of the reich that everything is ready to wipe out the enemy ...the fuehrer has mobilized all resources and will strike when the time comes...have no fear.

Despite Germany's apparent advantage so far in the war, consisting of its successes with submarines and mines, the quick thrust the German people thought was going to bring victory still has not materialized. The air force still carries the hope for a "blitzkrieg."

The decision, says Goering, rests with Hitler. The leader knows best; the leader alone will decide. What was intended to be and may be reassurance to the leader's followers sounds strangely like whistling in the dark in places where the "father knows best" complex of Germany can be viewed objectively.

News Behind the News

Dewey Believed To Have Only About Half of Needed Delegates Lined Up.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 5—Tom Dewey, the Little Boy Blue of Republicanism, has a long way to go.

A careful personal inside check of delegate prospects gives the prosecuting candidate a potential ballot delegate strength of 252 as of today. This is only half of what he needs to be nominated.

Against him the immediate prospective total is 274. This is a rock-bound minimum which does not involve any highly doubtful primaries. It includes Ohio 52 for Taft, Michigan 38 for Vandenberg, Massachusetts 34 for Martin or Lodge, Pennsylvania 72 for James, California 44 uninstructed, Kansas 18 for Landon, Oregon 10 for McNary, and New Hampshire 8 for Bridges.

Thomas Dewey

Beyond this the Dewey opposition can look forward with some assuring degree of certainty to about 175 of the 214 delegates from southern and border states. The Dewey organization practically concedes this. His only good chances south of the Mason-Dixon line are in Texas 26 and Florida 12.

Thus the total visible opposition delegate strength at the moment seems to be about 450, which is 81 short of a majority.

This certainly means the opposition has today a better chance of stopping Mr. Dewey than Mr. Dewey has of the nomination.

Dewey Plan

The Dewey group knows this but their plan is to roll up such a psychological advantage as to cause a break in the opposition. In this they are looking straight at Governor Landon for one. The Kansan was once considered rather friendly to the Dewey forces, although lately he has been extremely non-committal. At any rate Landon will have only 18 votes from Kansas plus whatever amount of less than 34 he might be able to get from his good friend, House Floor Leader Joe Martin, in Massachusetts. It would not be enough to nominate Mr. Dewey. The New Yorker's base strength of 252 arises from those he won in Wisconsin, the 58 he will pick up unchallenged in Illinois next Tuesday, possibly 82 to New York, 32 in New Jersey, 7 in Nebraska (he may get more in Tuesday's primary) 26 in Texas, 12 in Florida, and 1 in Mississippi (the latter three being decidedly uncertain.) In addition he might get 50 votes more from western states, but beyond these reasonable expectations the going will be tough and maybe rough.

Possibility that Senator Vandenberg might withdraw if his surprise shellacking in Wisconsin is repeated in Nebraska next week has been lightly considered among Republican calculators, but if there is any ground for this assumption, the change is not likely to help Dewey. The Michigan senator would no doubt prefer to throw his strength to Senator Taft.

On the Democratic Side

The Wisconsin Democratic result has strengthened the belief that Mr. Roosevelt is running for control of the nomination rather than the nomination itself. If he follows the direction of the prevailing dairy state winds (and he has rarely neglected opportunities to lead the breeze in the past) he will keep his third term movement going until he gets complete control of the convention and then hand it over to another.

The Democratic delegate check list shows Roosevelt has the nomination very near his pocket. His roughly calculated delegate voting prospects today approximate 507, 40 short of a majority. This figure is reached by giving him Illinois, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, most of Pennsylvania, and a half dozen smaller state delegations where his power seems unchallengeable, together with the ten Roosevelt delegates already selected in Maine, 8 in New Hampshire and those in Wisconsin.

The resistance total now in sight is only 241, which shows again that Mr. Roosevelt won most of this fight at the last convention when his forces succeeded in abrogating the two-thirds rule. This resistance level is fixed by calculating the number of favorite son states (for instance, Bankhead, Alabama, 22, McNutt, Indiana, 28; Garner, Texas, 46). In addition the opposition can clearly get about 100 more votes, enough to stop a nomination under the two-thirds rule but not under the new majority rule.

The most important message to the Democratic politicians from the Wisconsin results was reached by adding the total Garner and Republican votes. This addition showed there were more voters in Wisconsin last Tuesday against Mr. Roosevelt than for him.

All these considerations indicate Mr. Roosevelt has the choice on the one hand of nominating himself in persons or by proxy (Jackson - Douglas - Corcoran - Ickes) and thereby splitting the Democratic party and injuring its chances of victory. Or on the other hand he can offer a nominee who would hold the party together, State Secretary Hull, being the single apparent example.

Mine Secret Revealed

British Officer Risked Life To Combat Hitler Sea Menace.

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Correspondent

LONDON, April 5—The heroism of a young officer in the British navy revealed the secrets of Germany's deadly magnetic mine, and made it possible for successful measures to be worked out to combat the sea menace, it has been officially disclosed.

At the risk of instant death, Lieut. Commander J. G. D. Ouvry, of the mine station at Portsmouth, volunteered to dismantle the first magnetic mine which fell into British hands.

Nothing was known about the mechanism of this lethal, pear-shaped aluminum "secret weapon" which was taking deadly toll of scores of British and neutral ships in the waters of the English channel and Thames estuary. One false move by the courageous young officer and he would be blown to bits by the explosion of 700 pounds of T. N. T.

One Blown to Bits

A short time before the magnetic mine was discovered in tide water off the East coast a chief petty officer had been blown to pieces trying to render another German mine harmless.

Ouvry volunteered for the hazardous work, knowing that if he was successful in solving the secret of the new horror weapon it would mean the saving of hundreds of ships and perhaps thousands of lives.

He was successful, and for his bravery today wears the D. S. O.

The dramatic story of Ouvry's daring dates back to November when the destruction of shipping by Hitler's new secret weapon was at its height.

On the night of Nov. 22, artillerymen on the shore at Shoeburyness saw a Nazi seaplane swoop low over the coast. As searchlights and anti-aircraft batteries went into action they saw two parachutes flutter from the belly of the plane and flutter slowly down to the water. They struck the surface near the shore and disappeared. The admiralty was immediately notified. Experts from the mine stations at Portsmouth were hurried to the scene.

Presented Acute Problem

When the tide fell, two strange pear-shaped mines were exposed to view on the tidal bottom. Their smooth surfaces were without any horns through which ordinary sea mines are detonated by contact when struck by the hull of a ship. By its unusual appearance the experts knew they at last had found Hitler's new weapon. But how did it work? How could they take it apart without it exploding? Had the Germans so arranged the mine that it would blow up if tampered with?

But the crew went to work. The secret of the magnetic mine must be solved at all costs.

First they anchored the mine so it would not move with the rising tide. Then moulds were made of the external fittings. Special tools were then made of non-magnetic metals so the nuts and bolts could be unfastened.

Then the deadly hazardous task began. Commander Ouvry volunteered to tackle the opening of the mine alone.

Advice to Crew

"I'll start on this fitting," he shouted to his crew on the shore. "If it blows up, don't touch it on the next mine you dismantle."

As each successive fitting was unscrewed, he shouted out its location before applying the wrench.

Finally, what appeared to be the detonator was carefully removed. Then the whole party set to work on the other fittings. Suddenly they were shocked into a stunned silence. Another fitting had proved to be a second detonator when it was removed.

But the work went on until all fittings were safely removed. The delicate actuating mechanism was taken out with a sigh of relief, and only the hull with its 700 pounds of explosive remained.

Removed for Analysis

This was loaded on a truck and taken to Portsmouth, together with the fittings, for more exhaustive analysis.

Thus the secret of the magnetic mine was solved.

It exploded many theories of the mine's action. One such belief was that the mine remained on the sea bottom until a ship approached and then rose upward on a cable to strike the hull and explode. It was found that the mine remained anchored on the bottom and exploded there, the impact of its explosion being all the greater from the thrust of the upheaval of water.

The actuating mechanism, it was revealed, is a magnetic needle inside the mine which is held in a horizontal position by springs, regardless of the position of the mine on the sea bottom.

The steel hull of a ship passing directly over or near the mine attracts one end of the needle upwards, the other end dipping until it make an electrical contact, completing the circuit which detonates the mine.

The casing of the mine, and its internal parts, except for the magnetic actuator, were made of aluminum, which is non-magnetic. The mine weighed 1,300 pounds and contained 700 pounds of high explosive. It can be laid either from planes or mine-laying submarines. From the weight of the mine it is estimated that a seaplane can carry only two each trip although 30 to 40 can be carried in a submarine-mine layer.

The explosive was similar to the type of high explosive used by Britain and many other governments.

Census Surprises

Results Will Show U. S. Has More Husbands Than Wives.

This is the first of two articles based on the census.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, April 5—Probably the biggest surprise when the 1940 census figures are in will be the increase in the number of women in the labor force.

Estimates already are running around 3,000,000. That means there are 3,000,000 more jobs that are filled or could be filled by women workers than in 1930. Figuratively speaking, 3,000,000 additional women in the last 10 years have turned their backs on housewifery and cast themselves on the auction block of labor.

Jack Stinnett

The reasons are numerous. The depression years had a triple-play effect (1) Dwindling family incomes drove the ladies to pounding the pavements and reading the Help Wanted; (2) when the men of the family were thrown out of work completely, the women had to find employment or the family starved; (3) thousands of marriages were postponed indefinitely and many of the brides-to-be became brides-never-to-be (their fiances "outgrew them"—finally selected younger women) and sought solace and sustenance in work.

And Furthermore—

There are other reasons. The spread of birth control, as evidenced by the rapidly falling birth rate, left more thousands necessarily seeking an interest in life outside the home. Contributing, too, was the great increase in housekeeping gadgets, releasing women from dawn-to-dark household duties. And the rise of "cash economy"—a realization of the saving involved in having cash on hand to purchase from stores and companies that had no credit system or made liberal discounts for cash.

There is one other factor worth mentioning: Spread of the knowledge among employers that for many jobs women were eminently better equipped and cheaper than men. The mechanical computation machine is an example. At this, women were found to be more accurate, steadier, neater, less inclined to rebel against lack of advancement, and contented with less pay than were men. There are hundreds of other fields where the same rules were found to apply. The result: a greater demand for women.

No city picked at random can be said, at this point, to be typical. And the people who expert the census experts are not basing their conclusions on South Bend, Ind., where a special census already has been taken. But it is significant that in that city of approximately 100,000, there is an increase of almost 1,000 women in the labor force since 1930.

If you are interested in social service, labor, unemployment, economics, or any of a dozen other pseudo-sciences which concern America in mass, you'll have to drawn your own conclusions. I'm just telling you what the experts tell me—the big surprise in the census and the one you will be hearing and reading most about, will be this big increase in the army of women who work or want to.

A Marital Problem

Another surprise to some (although not to those who are up on their censuses) will be that the 1940 tabulation will show a great many more married men than women in the country.

That's a honey for parlor quiz games, but the explanation is simple.

In 1930, there were approximately 200,000 more married men than women in the United States. The reason was merely that: that many male immigrants had arrived who had not been able to (or being able, weren't in any hurry to) send back to the old country for their wives.

Immigration, of course, has fallen off. Thus the number of married women is approaching the number of married men.

Challengers

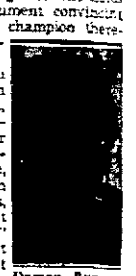
They Should Do the Leading, Let Champion Stick to Defense.

By DAMON RUNYON

HERE is one for you: On which does the burden of battle rest in a championship contest, the challenger or the defender?

We say the challenger.

The challenger is the guy who announces to the world that he can lick the geezer who holds the title, and makes his argument convincing enough to get a match. The champion thereupon assumes the role of defender of his championship.



Damon Runyon

Well, now, we say that when they meet, whether it is in some field of competitive sport, or in politics or even in business, it is up to the challenger to make the assault. The defender, by accepting the issue, or having it forced on him, in saying in effect, "Here it is, brother. Come and take it away from me if you can," that is fair enough. We say it is up to the challenger to act on the invitation.

We hold the defender is entitled to remain passive if he desires, making no move on the offense, but merely trying to circumvent the attack. At least we think that is within his rights. Defender means to defend, does it not? It is the positive duty of the challenger to move upon that defense. He has challenged. Let him make good.

Of course it may happen that the defender is one who believes the best defense is a strong offense. He may attack first, himself, but this ought to be exactly what the challenger is looking for. It brings the battle out into the open. It eliminates the necessity of the challenger looking for what you might call chinks in the defender's armor.

THE challenger should welcome the opportunity of exchanging blow for blow with the defender. Championships are rarely won by standing back waiting to see what the defender is going to do. Even if he does nothing at all it will constitute a successful defense against an equally inactive challenger. That goes for competitive sport, politics, or business.

It goes for life itself. Life is the champion holding the golden title of success, if you will pardon a little Fancy Dan stuff. Many challengers come along to hooraw themselves into title matches only to fall on their beezers because they try to out wait the old defender. They should step in there and let go with their Sunday punches. If you strike at a king you must kill him.

Any mugg who ballyhoozles himself as a challenger in any field and is lucky enough to get a meeting with the champion, then shirks his responsibility, is scratched from our social register. We do not cross out earnest guys who merely overestimate their own ability, however. We give them their merit marks for trying.

We will bet you that the way Joe Louis finally loses his title of heavyweight champion of the world is by laughing himself to death in the ring some night just thinking of the challengers he has met. He has been introduced to more comics than you can find around Lindy's on a big evening. He has touched gloves with creepers, crawlers, swoonders, kissers, huggers and foot racers, all appearing before him as challengers for his title, possession of which argues the greatest pugilistic ability of the period.

JOE is a solemn fellow when pursuing his occupation. He never cracks a smile, even if a challenger starts turning flip-flaps and making funny faces and wise cracks. One of these nights, however, the humor of the whole situation is bound to dawn on Joe and give him an attack of hysteries from which he may not recover. He can be eliminated as champion in no other fashion if his challengers, once they get in the ring with him, stick to the curious theory that their best chance is not to do any fighting.

A few braver souls have stepped up to him and blasted with him as a challenger should. They were those unfortunate chaps who overestimated their own ability. But you must respect them because they did not shirk. They had their chance and failed. No man who ever held the title of campion gives a challenger a greater chance than Louis, because he will stand up and trade punches. What more could a challenger ask?

IT is not Louis' fault if they cringe, crawl, or swoon away on him. It is not his fault if they are weaklings or old men. When they publicly announce they can lick him, he has a right to assume they at least expect to try. Probably no one is more surprised than Joe when they make no effort. Perhaps if the conditions of battle were "winner take all" he would find fewer of that kind confronting him. They would reflect with Col. Shakespeare:

"And I thought he had been valiant and so cunning in fence, I'd have seen him damned ere I'd have challenged him."

Anecdotes of Ohio

By THOMAS W. MADDOX

Dr. William Goforth had the pioneering spirit and when he left his comfortable eastern home and substantial medical practice to come to the frontier Ohio country in the latter part of the eighteenth century he became Ohio's first physician.

The exact antithesis of the usual frontier-bound traveler in appearance, Dr. Goforth represented the highest culture of young colonial America. About 1787 the doctor went by Ohio river boat to Fort Washington, present site of Cincinnati.

Dapper Dr. Goforth, who always dressed like a colonial fashion plate, became at once busily engaged in ministering to ills of early Ohioans.

His practice grew rapidly, but the fastidious doctor found time to educate medical apprentices, and he trained Daniel Drake, the first Ohioan to practice medicine in the territory.

Research Work Goes On

PUT-IN-BAY, O.—Winter weather brought no halt to the research work at Gibraltar island, Ohio State university's scientific outpost in Lake Erie this year.

Twelve months in the year the staff, now numbering nine persons, works on research connected with aquatic biology, mostly dealing with problems of fisheries of Lake Erie and inland Ohio.

When winter comes, investigators haul out their shanty built on a sled. Reaching the desired point on the lake, the men cut holes through the ice and the shanty is placed over the holes. Operators work in comparative comfort within the shanty, regardless of outside wind and cold.

Water samples are taken and temperatures are obtained; fish are caught, tagged and then released, in order that their migrations and life history may be obtained. One fish tagged by the workers was caught within a month at Detroit, 73 miles away.

Back in the laboratory one man works full time studying the scales of lake and inland fish to determine ages of those being caught. Another is assembling a complete collection of these fish, as the basis for a book.

U. S. WATCHING CHINA REGIME

Washington Likely To Hold Tokyo Responsible for Infringement of Rights.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—United States officials are watching the Japan-sponsored government of Wang Ching-wei at Nanking with an eagle eye, determined to hold Tokyo rather than Nanking responsible for any action which infringes on American rights.

Persons close to the state department believe that Wang Ching-wei's government must not only make itself accepted not only in China but also by third powers. Toward this latter end the Nanking authorities may take one or both of two steps:

1. Offer concessions to third powers which recognize it as the government of China. Secretary Hull has refused recognition, declaring that the new regime "has the appearance of a further step in the program of one country by armed force to impose its will upon a neighboring country."

2. Discriminate against the citizens of countries which refuse recognition. State department notes to Tokyo charge that Japan has discriminated against Americans in the Japanese-occupied areas of China.

Secretary Hull's recent statement indicated that the state department believes the same thing may be attempted by Wang Ching-wei. Hull said:

"The developments there (Nanking) appear to be following the pattern of other regimes and systems which have been set up in China under the aegis of an outside power (Japan) and which in their functioning especially favor the interests of that outside power and deny to nationals of the United States and other third countries enjoyment of long-established rights of equal and fair treatment which are legally and justly theirs."

Officials here contend that the new government at Nanking is based on Japanese bayonets rather than Chinese consent, that Wang Ching-wei is a tool of Japan, and that the measures he may take in administering his government will have been inspired by Tokyo.

Hi-Y Members of District To Meet in Marion

DR. C. E. JOSEPHSON

Dr. C. E. Josephson, president of Heidelberg college, will be the principal speaker tomorrow when Hi-Y members from the North Central Ohio district meet here for a one-day conference on "Citizenship Responsibilities." Approximately 100 young men from Marion, Crestline, Carey, Bucyrus, Galion, Eden, Upper Sandusky, Nevada and Marseilles are expected.

The meeting will open at 1 p. m. with registration at the First Reformed church on South Prospect street. Dr. Josephson will speak at 2:45 and will also lead a forum at 4:30 following group discussions under the leadership of Dr. Carl Sawyer, Ralph E. Carhart, Mark McKitrick, Supt. C. A. Hudson and Rev. P. E. Smoke, all of Marion.

There will be a banquet at the church at 6, followed by a program, and from 8:30 to 10:30 there will be dancing at the Y.

The local committee includes Ralph Howard, general chairman, Charles Ellery, William Ruettin, Richard Lawson, Edwin Smith and Dale Hudson.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Fibrositis

WE, IN America, have been pampered pets of Nature for a number of years. We have had about 15 years of unusually mild and temperate winters all over the country. But this spring, with a severe winter behind us, we may begin to see examples of the English disease, fibrositis, or painful nodules.

It has not been reported very often in American literature, and I think there is no doubt that it has some relation to cold climates and severe weather. It is by no means unknown in the northern states and in Canada.

The painful nodules occur anywhere under the skin; they may be in the muscles. Favorite places are along the neck, in the edge of the big triangular muscle that goes from the back of the head to the point of the shoulder; in the lumbar muscles of the back; in front in the breast and abdominal muscles. The nodules are painful and cause muscle spasm. They are often found in the course of massage.

That triangular muscle which forms a sheet along the back of the neck from the promonitory of the hind part of the skull to the corner of the shoulder, the trapezius muscle, is the seat of an affection that is called trapezius myositis. (Myositis means muscle inflammation.)

It is a hangover in spring from a long siege of cartarrh or infection of the nose and throat. There is pain noticed on turning the head or extending the neck. With fatigue of the muscles of the neck, there is apt to be headache in the back of the head. Tenderness can be elicited at the point of insertion of the muscle at the shoulder and back of the head.

Treatment consists, first, of free drainage of the nasal sinuses.

Another special form of fibrositis is panniculitis, which consists of painful spots in the fat of the abdomen, upper arms, upper leg, knees and calves. The typical sufferer is a middle-aged woman of pasty appearance. The skin is thickened and bound down so that it cannot be picked up as usual. Besides heat and massage, small amounts of thyroid extract are often beneficial.

Social Affairs

MEMBERS of the Marion Pan-Hellenic association will meet for a dessert bridge Monday evening at 7 o'clock at Hotel Harding. Serving on the hostess committee will be Mrs. Rex Kinsworth, Mrs. Ernest Ward, Mrs. William Lutz, Mrs. Louis Michel, Miss Melia Van Meter and Miss Amy Turner.

Euchre was played at a meeting of the Night Owl club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. E. Williams on East Center street. Mrs. F. L. Miller won first honors and Mrs. Grace Wilt was consoled. A galloping award was won by Mrs. R. C. Pendleton. Mrs. W. E. Weston was a guest. During a social hour the hostess was complimented with a handkerchief shower.

Mrs. Donnabel Mann was welcomed as a new member, and Mrs. Minnie Baldauf and Mrs. Helen Augenstein were guests when Mrs. Mary Gilmore, of West Center street entertained the F. C. club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Olive Hartley, Mrs. Betty Howell and Mrs. Gilmore sang a song and each gave a reading. The Lord's Prayer was recited by the group. A mystery package was won by Mrs. Mann. The hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Flossie Leonard.

Mrs. Melvin Daugherty, Mrs. George Clapsaddle, Mrs. Clifford Lumberson and Mrs. Bernard Harris were guests when Mrs. William McFarlin of Owens street entertained the G. N. O. Bridge club last evening. First honors were won by Mrs. Ed Doyle, and second and galloping by Mrs. Willis Nye. Awards also were presented the guests. The club will meet April 26 with Mrs. Ed Doyle of Waldo.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Ireland of Uncapher avenue entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner last evening, the occasion being their ninth wedding anniversary. The date also honored the forty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Ireland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holliday, and the twentieth wedding anniversary of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Reed. Decorations included bouquets of roses and the table centerpiece was a decorated cake bearing the dates of the anniversaries. Baskets filled with mints were the favors and carried out a color note of pink, blue and yellow. Evening guests included E. K. Reed Jr., Mrs. Homer Holliday, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holliday and Patty Ann Holliday.

Mrs. Wilson Beck entertained her bridge club last evening at her home on Gurley avenue.

The award for high score went to Mrs. Harold Lill and the galloping award was won by Mrs. Alva Gantt. Mrs. Lucille Simpson was a guest. Appointments for lunch were in keeping with the spring season.

Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Beard gave a maple taffy pull party last evening at their home at 477 West Columbia street for Mrs. Beard's niece, Miss Frances Ringhart of Johnsville, O., who is visiting this week at the Beard home.

The evening was spent with games and contests. Guests were Mrs. Grace Cox of Mt. Gilead, Mrs. J. Coldwell and sons Everett and Donald, Miss Sonalee Converse and Eugene Converse.

Mrs. John Drollinger of Windsor street entertained a group of friends at a potluck dinner last evening for the pleasure of Mrs. Dorothy Spring of San Diego, Calif., formerly of Marion.

Guests were Mrs. Donald Reiff, Mrs. Howard Lehner, Mrs. Eldon Myers, Mrs. Winifred Harruff, Mrs. Glen Wymer, Mrs. Paul Drake and Misses Esther and Mary Grubaugh.

Mrs. Louise Fausnaugh of the Agosta road entertained the Chitter Chatter club yesterday at her home. Mrs. Wilson Orr received first and the lone hand awards, Mrs. Bertha Daly second and the penny box awards, Mrs. Florence Tuttle third and Mrs. Edith Daly fourth. Guests were Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Goldie Hixon of Toledo, and Mrs. Clyde Fausnaugh. The meeting, which was scheduled for Wednesday, had been postponed to permit the members to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mary Murphy, a former member.

Chanting is attributed to Ambrose about the year 386.

Chief Arranges Interview with Farm's Former Owner.

"MR. BATES?" my father queried when the old real estate man to whom he had telephoned had come to the telephone. "This is Charles Spencer. Yes, thank you; very well, indeed, and in an inquisitive mood. I'd like some information, if you have it. Thank you. That's very nice of you.

"Here are the things I want to know. First, will you tell me what year the old part of this house was built? Did you say 1765? That's what I thought. Do you know the name of the original family that owned it? Carman? Are there any of the descendants of the original clan anywhere around, and would they be apt to have any information about the old house or the people who built it?"

There was an absorbed expression on his face as he listened to what Mr. Bates was saying. Lillian and I were staring at each other in sheer amazement.

Asks for Interview

"That is certainly gratifying to me," my father said at last. "Now, I am very anxious to get in touch with this Miss Carman, but I cannot leave the farm house just at present. Let me see! Do you suppose she would consent to see my daughter and another lady if they went over to see her this afternoon?"

Behind his back Lillian went through an elaborate pantomime of pinching herself to see if she were awake, which made me want to laugh. What did my father have in mind? I knew only that it must be something very important to him if he were willing to send me out of the farm house, even though Lillian and I would be most adequately guarded.

My father was speaking again after a pause, and we both now strained our ears shamelessly to hear what he was saying.

"I am under great obligations to you, Mr. Bates," he said earnestly. "It is very good of you to arrange this interview for me. Shall we say 3 o'clock? I am sure my daughter, Mrs. Graham, and her friend, Mrs. Underwood, can be there promptly at that time. Good-bye."

Two Curious Women

He hung up the receiver and swung around, facing us with an inscrutable smile on his lips.

"You are concealing your astonishment very well," he said. "I really should pay a tribute to your poise."

"If we took it, we would be acting under false pretenses," Lillian replied quickly. "I'm simply eaten up with curiosity, and I know Madge must be badly bitten also."

"I am wild to know all about it, Father," I admitted, "but, of course, I don't want to hurry you."

"I do," Lillian said saucily. "I'm afraid I shall apply a corkscrew, Chief, if you don't tell us something pretty soon."

Diplomatic Task

"If I am given an opportunity," my father said smiling, "I may be able to satisfy your curiosity."

With swift movements Lillian crossed to me, perched on the arm of my chair, clapped one hand over my mouth, and pressed the other to her own lips, the while she blinked her eyes saucily at my father.

"I'll take your gestures at their par value," my father said. "Don't muzzle yourselves any longer, but listen carefully."

Lillian dropped her hands, and we both turned attentive faces to him, for his voice was serious now.

"You will have a task this afternoon which will tax your diplomacy to the utmost. You are to call upon Miss Annie Carman, of whom I have heard you speak, and try to get from her a copy of the original plan of this house before it was remodeled."

Lillian and I gasped, for Miss Annie Carman was a recluse who was famous for her tempers when disturbed.

"I know, I know," my father said hurriedly. "I told you it would be a hard task. But it must be done. I must find out how those marauders got into the attic."

Sorority's Charity Bazaar To Be Held Saturday Night

ARRANGEMENTS for the annual charity bazaar of Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority, were completed today when a group of the members went to decorate the Elks hall where the festivities will be held Saturday evening, starting at 7:30.

Horns and other noisemakers and comic hats will be favors. There will be "taxi dancing" to nickelodeon music, booths for games, and refreshment stands.

Money raised will go to carry on the chapter's local and national philanthropic work. Locally the chapter is responsible for the welfare of several families and is one of the sponsors of the community center. Its national field includes a share of the upkeep of a Kentucky school in the foothills of the Cumberland mountains.

Tickets for the bazaar may be obtained from the committee or at the door Saturday evening.

Mrs. Newell Minard, chairman, is assisted by Mrs. Hugh Wright, Mrs. Robert Hinamon, Mrs. Robert Middleton, Mrs. Ray Biddle, Miss Eula Bricker, Miss Louise Foreman, Miss Maxine Alspach, Miss Grace Wise and Miss Florence Wood.

12 Enrolled In Beta Chapter of Gradale Sorority

TWELVE young women became members of Beta chapter of Gradale sorority in a candlelight induction ceremony last evening at the Forest Glen cathedral home. Mothers of the group were guests.

Mrs. Robert Y. Smith was organist for the service, which was in charge of Miss Dorothy DeWees, Miss Margaret Field and Miss Florence Zachman, officers, and Miss Julia Ann Walsh and Miss Betty Gance.

Miss Kathryn Andrews sang two selections and Mrs. Smith played a group of organ numbers for the program which followed the ceremony.

The chapter will have a business meeting next Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

He said it probably will take some time to sell young people on the idea of the equality of labor, but that something must be done.

Considerable data was presented on the Marion problem, indicating a need for expansion of the vocational department of the public schools. Mr. Gabler commented that every year students wanting to take this course have to be turned down for lack of facilities.

Another study reported by Mr. Gabler showed that there is a great difference between what work students wanted when they were in the ninth and tenth grades and what they actually were doing a year or so after graduation.

Nominating Committee Named

In a business meeting a nominating committee was appointed to select 12 nominees for six positions on the Jaycee board of directors. The election will be May 16. The board includes 11 members, five of whom are holdovers. The new board will meet between May 16 and June 1 to elect from its members officers for the new year.

The Jaycees also discussed plans for the air show which has been proposed for June with the cooperation of the Marion Aviation Boosters club; the Golden Gloves boxing tournament and the "get out the vote" campaign.

BIRTHDAY DINNER HONORS D. OF A. COUNCIL MEMBERS

Members having birthday anniversaries in March and April were honored at a 6 o'clock dinner meeting of Paramount Council No. 37, Daughters of America, Thursday night. The organization's colors of red, white and blue were used to decorate the candlelighted tables, which were arranged in an L-shape.

A district rally May 18 at Tiffin, at which Michigan and Ohio officers will be present, was discussed. On April 18 Paramount council will entertain visiting councils and will be in charge of a class initiation.

Three applications for membership were received and three balloted on. Saturday past counselors will attend a meeting of their organization in District 4, with Mary A. Canfield council of Marion as host.

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mrs. Martha Reardon, retiring president, presided for the installation of officers at a meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Evangelical and Reformed church Wednesday night at the home of Miss Dora Jacobs on Pearl street. The officers are Miss Jacobs, president; Mrs. Dessie Bayles, vice president; Mrs. Agnes Wohlschlag, recording secretary; Mrs. Reardon, corresponding secretary, and Miss Lillian Plack, treasurer. Plans were made to attend a meeting of Central Ohio Classical at Sycamore April 10 and 11. Mrs. Dessie Bayles was in charge of the lesson study on "Africa." She was assisted by Mrs. Dora Jones. Mrs. Emma Felchlin and Mrs. Agnes Wohlschlag. Refreshments were served.

SECOND FLOOD CREST SWEEPS SUSQUEHANNA

By The Associated Press

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 5 —The second flood crest in a week surged down the heavily populated Susquehanna valley today.

With headwaters of the stream still rising, observers predicted the new crest would go within three feet of last Monday's flood levels.

North of the New York line, the river fed by recent rains and melting snow went up three feet overnight and was expected to rise three to four feet more.

At Towanda, where lowlands were awash for a second time, the river went up three and a half feet to a 19.6 foot stage. Monday's crest there was slightly over 22 feet.

In Wilkes-Barre, where populous nearby communities were hard hit earlier this week, lowlands were under water again with the stream still rising.

ECONOMY ADVOCATES BATTLE WPA HIKE

House Members Seek To Block Huge Increase.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—House economy advocates were rolling up their sleeves today for one of the toughest bouts of the session—a battle to prevent a $500,000,000 increase in the proposed $985,000,000 WPA fund.

Relief moved to the top of the table after the house yesterday passed the $784,080,094 army bill, the last of the session's 11 regular appropriation bills. As approved by the house, these measures provide for total expenditures of $6,120,123,932.

Thus far, the house has managed to hold spending below President Roosevelt's budget estimates, with a single exception. It jolted the economy program only on the labor department federal security bill, tacking on about $67,000,000 primarily for the CCC and the national youth administration.

On the relief question, the move for heavier spending found support in both house and senate.

No sooner had a house appropriations subcommittee started hearings on the WPA estimates yesterday than Senator Pepper (D-Fla) launched an effort to add $150,000,000 to the current year's relief fund of $1,477,000,000.

Scholarship Tests Tomorrow

250 Rural Students To Take Part in County Event; Winners To Go to District Contests.

Tests to select representatives of Marion county rural schools in district and state scholarship contests will be held at Harding High school tomorrow morning by approximately 250 students.

Chosen in the tests will be a team of 32 students to represent the county in general academic tests in Columbus May 4 and a team of eight commercial students for a series of special tests in Columbus on the same date, D. T. Mills, county school superintendent, said.

Types of Tests

In the general academic field, tests will be given in 16 subjects including biology, chemistry, general science, physics, algebra, geometry, American and world history, English, Latin and French. Four types of tests will be given in the commercial group including typing, shorthand and bookkeeping. Each high school in the county may enter two candidates for each test but no student may take more than two tests.

The purpose of the tests, Mr Mills said, is to obtain scholarship ratings for outstanding students in all sections of the state. While no scholarships are offered as prizes, colleges and universities often take high scores obtained in the tests into consideration when granting scholarships, he explained.

All of the "general" tests will be given in the east assembly hall at Harding High while the commercial tests will be given in the commercial department rooms at the school. All are scheduled to start at 8:45 a. m.

The "general" tests will be in charge of the county schools' education committee composed of Superintendents V. L. Anderson of Morral, Ivan Barnhart of Green Camp, Paul Temple of Meeker and Gail Ferris of Kirkpatrick. The commercial tests are to be in charge of Don Baderischer of Pleasant township, Margaret Denman of Caledonia, Cordelia Riesland of LaRue and Crystal Haynes of Prospect.

JAIL

ished at 3:50 p. m. yesterday after Cahill explained the operations of the liquor association which he headed.

During one of the high points of his testimony he explained when questioned by Prosecuting Attorney William J. Hunter as to why he had used aliases. He admitted that he had used aliases of W. Edward Cahill, W. E. Cahill, E. C. Williams and Ed Collins. He estified that he had previously worked as an organizer with the Ku Klux Klan for some time, and had given talks and worked in nearly every town and city in Ohio and because of that had received too much publicity and notoriety and because of the ensuing embarrassment he used the aliases to hide his former identity with the Klan.

Cahill denied ever having tried to get a liquor permit from Pearl Derringer of Marseilles and offering to secure a liquor permit for him through his association. He admitted he had offered to help Derringer in promoting a vote on the local option question at Marseilles which has outlawed liquor.

Said He Bought Goodwill

In explaining his connection with the State Liquor Dealers, Inc., Cahill said he had purchased the goodwill from the former stockholders and had frequently sought expert advice on the legality of his operations. It was his plan, he said, to secure stockholders in every county. He was firm in his denial of fraud.

Going further into the Derringer case, Cahill said that if a local option vote had been favorable, his company would have assisted Derringer in efforts to obtain a liquor permit.

His company assisted in local option elections in Franklin county and Washington C. H.

Deputy Sheriff Paul H. Frey was the only other defense witness.

Immediately after Cahill had testified, Defense Attorney Price moved that all charges be dismissed and all counts be stricken from the information filed by the prosecutor. Judge Bear overruled the motions on two counts at once and this morning overruled the motion on the third count.

Cahill was arrested at Mansfield by Marshal Adolph Kirchner and Deputy Frey. Deputy Frey pushed the investigation of the case.

RANK OUTSIDER WINS AT AINTREE TODAY

Bogskar, 25 to 1 Choice, First; MacMoffat Second.

By The Associated Press

AINTREE, ENG., April 5 — Bogskar, a rank outsider, came from nowhere to win the 102nd Grand National Steeplechase today.

MacMoffat was second and Gold Arrow, third.

While L. Scott Briggs' MacMoffat, second last year, and Gold Arrow owned by J. R. Neill, ran with the leaders from the start Bogskar trailed. He closed fast, however, to carry Lord Stalbridge's silks to victory by four lengths. MacMoffat was six lengths in front of Gold Arrow.

Bogskar was a 25 to 1 shot in the betting. MacMoffat was held at 8 to 1 by the crowd, estimated at more than 100,000, while Gold Arrow was considered to have no better than a 50 to 1 chance.

Seventeen of the 31 starters completed the four miles, 856 yards.

Arthur Sainsbury's Symaethis finished fourth. Bogskar carried 144 pounds over the long journey in nine minutes, 20 3-5 seconds, only one fifth of a second slower than the record established by Golden Miller in 1934.

Klistar, overnight favorite from Dorothy Paget's stable, and Mrs. Louis E. Stoddard's Milan, chief of the two American-owned contenders, never were factors. The other American entry, John Hay Whitney's National Night, fell the first time around the course.

Pall of Inaction Hangs Over War Front in Europe

By The Associated Press

An uneasy pall of apparent inaction hung over Europe's war today.

The French and Germans reported the usual patrol skirmishes on the western front, the Germans saying about 15 French were killed, while the French mentioned four artillery casualties.

On the diplomatic front the quiet was more notable.

Germany was reported to have failed in an attempt to get Yugoslavia to guard German merchant ships carrying Yugoslav bauxite through the Adriatic. The ore, from which aluminum is obtained, is not regarded by Yugoslavia as a war material, and official sources previously had said she would sanction its shipment through territorial waters.

Race Occupies British

A large section of the British the first wartime running of the public was more occupied with Grand National steeplechase at Aintree today that with news of the war.

The French were reported preoccupied with their campaign against Communism.

Milk Code Voted Down, 3 to 2

ably cost the dairy men used for this special milk, so we have ordered other caps which we will use until such time as we are able to officially sell 'Grade A' milk.

"We have customers who wish to buy Grade A' milk that has the approval of local health authorities and a nationally recognized as a standard of quality. We are asking that producers who wish milk produced under this standard 'Grade A' regulation be given the opportunity to do so."

Reasons for Request

Mr Daly and his company attorney, John H Clary, appeared before the board at its March meeting and urged the adoption of the code. At that time Mr Daly said that while he believed adoption of the code would modernize milk production and thus improve the quality of Marion's milk, he wanted to make it clear that his request also was motivated by a personal reason. He told the board that since nearby counties have adopted the "standard" code and Marion has not, he is restricte from selling milk in the other counties. Neither he nor Mr. Clark appeared at the meeting yesterday.

Voicing objections to the proposed code at yesterday's meeting were Mr. Lawrence, spokesman of a group of farmers who appeared at the March meeting, and a group of dairymen composed of H. W Zachman of the Zachman Dairy, D F Montgomery of the Ideal Dairy, Richard Parish of the Parish Dairy, Richard Earl of Earl's Dairy and Clarence Kyle of south of Marion who distributes raw milk in Marion.

All of these men expressed the opinion that the milk being produced in Marion at present is of "very good" quality and they said they do not believe the quality would be improved if the code were adopted.

Cites Equipment Cost

Mr. Montgomery said he believed the cost of installing the necessary equipment should be taken into consideration, adding that he would favor the code if it would improve the quality of the milk.

"I believe that if we can't produce a fit quality of milk for everyone under the present code then we should stop producing milk altogether," he said.

Mr. Kyle said he believed that production of good milk depends upon the producer, stating, "You can produce very good milk with meager equipment or you can produce very meager milk with very good equipment."

At this point Dr. Bull asked if the producers would stop labelling milk "Grade A" if the board rejected the new code and a lengthy discussion of the meaning of the term "Grade A" followed.

Mr. Montgomery said he had "never been able to figure out just what 'Grade A' meant," to which Dr Bull replied that "Grade A" milk means milk that has been produced under the standard milk code recommended by the United States Public Health service.

Mr. White said he believed that when the public purchases "Grade A" milk it expects to get milk that is a little above average and Mr. Parish went on to explain that some dairies increase the percentage of butter fat in the milk they sell as "Grade A."

Meaning of Grade A

"Well then is the only difference between 'Grade A' milk and ordinary milk?" Mr. Montgomery then asked, "the fact that 'Grade A' milk has a higher butter fat content and possibly a lower bacteria count that ordinary milk?"

He then went on to explain that some authorities on milk believe that a high bacteria count is not necessarily harmful.

Dr. Weinbaum then stated that the speakers were becoming confused as to the term "Grade A" and he repeated Dr. Bull's previous statement that "Grade A" should be used only in connection with milk that has passed all the requirements of the "standard" milk code.

At this point there was a lull in the discussion. The dairymen and Mr. Lawrence started to leave the room. Dr. Bull protested, stating that his question regarding the willingness of the dairymen to refrain from using the term "Grade A" had not been answered and the men returned to their chairs.

Calls "Grade A" Meaningless

"There isn't a week goes by but what I have difficulty convincing my patients that a 'Grade A' label on a milk bottle in Marion doesn't mean anything," he said.

Mr. Zachman said that to the best of his knowledge none of the dairymen in the room use a 'Grade A" label and he said he believed they would all be willing to refrain from using the label in the future. Several of the other dairymen nodded their approval of this statement.

"Well then," Dr. Bull asked, "if all these men are perfectly willing to not use a 'Grade A' label now, why are they opposed to the new code? They could still go on producing whatever grade of milk they want to so long as they don't use a 'Grade A' label. The code would just give those who want to label their milk the privilege of doing that officially, provided they are willing to meet all the requirements of the code."

Replying, Mr. Lawrence and Mrs. Kraner expressed the opinion that as soon as one dairy started using the label "Grade A" officially then it would be necessary for all the other dairies to either follow suit or go out of business.

"Mr. Isaly said at our last meeting that it wouldn't be necessary for producers to conform with the new code unless they wanted to produce 'Grade A milk, but I believe as soon as one dairy started doing it, competition would force all the others to fall in line," Mrs Kraner said.

When the dairymen and Mr Lawrence again started to leave, Dr Bull motioned toward the large pile of postal cards on which farmers had indicated whether they favored or were opposed to the new code and which Mr Lawrence had earlier presented to the board.

"I understand," he said, speaking to Mr Lawrence, "that you sent out a form letter when you asked the farmers to send in their votes on the card. Do you have a copy of that letter with you?"

Informed by Mr. Lawrence that he did not, Dr Bull stated, "That's too bad. I think it would make interesting reading for the board."

Mr Lawrence and the dairymen then left.

A recess immediately after the board resumed its discussion, Mrs. Kraner made a motion that the board reject the code, and the motion was seconded by Mr Wrenn. However, discussion was continued for some thirty minutes before a vote was taken.

Says Code Would Be Evaded

Mr. Wrenn declared that in his opinion the code would merely encourage producers and dairymen to "cheat," or to find some method of evading the code.

"I don't think it is necessary to establish a code that would force people to cheat and that's what something of this nature would certainly do," he said.

"If I'm in business and someone makes a law so tough that I can't operate, then I'll figure out some way of cheating it. That's only human nature. I don't think we should pass an ordinance that would hurt anyone unjustly."

Pointing to the stack of cards mailed in by the farmers, Mrs Kraner declared:

"When I see that there are 240 or 250 farmers who will be affected, I can't vote to deprive them of a livelihood. It would cost these farmers a lot of money to comply with the code and I don't think that it's right to make them do it."

Mr White expressed the opinion that the code would not provide a "Grade A" milk since there is nothing in the code, he said, to assure the public that the "Grade A" milk they buy in Marion county is the same as that which they purchased in another county.

"I'm also opposed to the code," he said, "because it would be the producer who would pay. And since there wouldn't be any difference to the so-called "Grade A" milk and the milk we're now getting I can't see the sense in forcing the public to pay a premium for added value that isn't there."

Dr. Weinbaum Speaks

Dr. Weinbaum then pointed out that before milk could be labeled "Grade A" it would have to be produced under code regulations and he said these regulations are uniform throughout the country wherever the code is in operation.

Mr White and Mrs. Kraner also voiced objections because, they said, they believe the code represented a regimentation of the dairy industry by the federal government.

Both Dr. Gruber and Dr. Weinbaum disagreed with this statement, however, emphasizing that the so-called "federal milk code" (the one being considered) was merely a code which the United States Public Health service recommends to local communities.

"The idea that there is any regimentation involved is in error because control and enforcement of the code would rest entirely with the local board," Dr. Weinbaum declared. The federal government merely has taken the leadership in determining what modern milk standards are and has presented them to local communities so that milk regulations can be made uniform throughout the country."

Dr Gruber pointed out that the present milk code was the "standard" code recommended by the public health service 15 years ago and that the proposed new code is merely a more modern revision of that code.

The vote then was taken, Mrs. Kraner, Mr Wrenn and Mr. White voting against the code and Dr. Bull and Mrs Miller voting for it.

Formerly Adopted, Repealed

The proposed code, frequently referred to as the "federal" code since it has been recommended by the United States public health service, is a revised and slightly modified form of a code which a few years ago was passed and later repealed by both the city and county health boards.

In May, 1935, it was passed by the city board but the following month it was repealed. In May, 1937, the county board approved it but the following July they repealed it.

In both cases the code was repealed following vigorous protests by farmers.

Views On Plumbing Code

The board discussed the proposed plumbing code only briefly and all the members expressed the opinion that the principal result of the code would be to place a $50 licensing fee on out-of-town plumbers.

Mrs. Kraner said she believed that inasmuch as this seemed to be the reason for the plumbers' presentation of the code to the board, she did not feel it was a matter for the health board to decide.

The fact that the proposed code, reported at length in The Star in an account of the board's February meeting, would call for a plumbing inspector employed by the city was pointed out by Mayor Snare. He explained that if city council establishes a building code of the type recently requested by fire insurance underwriters, the duties of plumbing inspector probably could be included in the building inspectors work.

"It seems to me that if we're going to have to hire a building inspector in order to keep our fire insurance rates from being boosted then the building inspector could do the necessary checking up on the plumbing," he said.

Other members pointed out that the present city ordinances requires that some types of plumbing be inspected by the city engineer but that in numerous cases plumbers have failed to report the work to the engineer.

Mr. White then made a motion that the board vote against the code and Mrs. Kraner seconded the motion.

At this point, however, Dr Weinbaum reminded the board that M. E. Kates, a representative of the plumbers favoring the code, had been waiting for two hours to speak. Mr. Kates was invited in and he repeated the request previously made by the plumbers that the code be adopted. After answering several technical questions concerning the inspection features of the code, he was excused.

The unanimous vote followed almost immediately.

RELIEF LOADS REDUCED HERE

Both City and County, However, Wind Up March with Deficits.

Reduction in both relief case loads and expenditures for Marion city and county were listed in the monthly reports issued today by Relief Director Frank S. Burns. However, the city finished up its March relief operations $2,384.46 in the red and the county had only $132.97 clear in its fund.

Both the city and the county are continuing to receive state relief grants but these amount only to 10 per cent or less of the total relief costs. No definite plans for raising local funds to make up the deficits have been announced.

Mr. Burns' report for the city showed 445 cases or 1,074 persons received relief in March at a cost of $6,232.15. In February there were 705 cases at a cost of $7,759.13.

March Expenses Analyzed

The breakdown of the city costs for March shows $2,352.46 for 234 direct relief cases; $2,645.59 for 211 work relief cases, $1,047.75 (including salaries of $820) for administration; $162.32 for 113 medical cases and the rest for miscellaneous expenses.

The unencumbered cash balance March 1 was $687.95 and on March 31 there was an overdraft of $2,384.46.

There were 99 cases closed and 72 added during the month. Of those added 13 had lost WPA jobs 26 private jobs, two unemployment compensation and 31 had other reasons. Of the cases closed, 18 went on WPA, 19 to private employment, four to unemployment compensation and 58 had other reasons.

Of the cases on relief 275 were listed as having employable persons.

Reason for Reduction

The large reduction in the city's case load results from the fact that in February a great number of people were added only temporarily during cold weather. Many were on WPA projects which had been suspended for a time.

The county report showed that 115 cases were given relief at a cost of $3,112.92, compared with 126 at a cost of $3,395.56 in February.

Transient cases in March were 166, compared with 154 in February.

The breakdown of the costs showed. $1,285.31 for direct relief families, $108.48 for single direct relief workers; $63.75 for transient cases; $379 for 25 medical cases; $274.92 for administration; $905.23 for aid to federal projects; $96.23 for miscellaneous.

The unencumbered balance on March 1 was $59.82 and on March 31 was $139.97.

12 Cases Open, 33 Closed

There were 12 cases added and 33 closed in the month. Of those added, three lost WPA jobs, six lost private jobs, one lost unemployment compensation and two had other reasons. Of those removed, 14 went on WPA, eight to private employment, two on unemployment compensation and nine had other reasons.

Both the city and county plan to continue issuing relief orders despite the lack of money. Director Burns has authorization from the commissioners and the city to go into debt for relief costs.

Both city and county officials are studying ways of obtaining an adequate supply of relief funds.

AWARDS MADE AT FINAL SESSION OF MORRAL FAIR

800 Attend Two-Day Community Event.

Crowds estimated at approximately 800 attended the Morral School and Community fair Wednesday and Thursday nights in the school auditorium. Awarding of trophies and an amateur show last night closed the fair, sponsored by the Future Farmers of America and Home Economics classes of the high school, cooperating with the faculty of the school and Morral and Marion merchants.

The following awards were made in the amateur entertainment last night: first, Henry Rush of near Marion, who played a broomstick violin; second, Jean Freese of Marion, acrobatic dancer, third Harold Carpenter and Robert Messenger, juniors in the high school, boxing match; fourth, Mildred Greene, school pupil, vocalist, fifth, Glen Sünemeir, pupil, piano solo, and sixth, Orland Beveridge of Agosta, accordion solo. Thirteen contestants took part. Judges were Mrs. Nellie E. Martin, Marion Warner and Miss Bernice Rowles. The acts were judged for entertainment value, quality and appropriateness.

FINAL CANDIDATE LIST DRAWN UP FOR PRIMARY

Marion county election officials started on the business of getting ballots for the May 14 primaries printed today as the deadline for withdrawal of candidacie passed yesterday. Only one candidate, Grover C Snyder of near Waldo, candidate for the Democratic nomination for engineer, withdrew at the last minute. Homer K. Henderson of Marion, candidate for the Republican nomination for coroner, withdrew earlier.

The field for county offices now numbers 70, including 44 Republicans and 26 Democrats.

MARION COUNTY 4-H PROGRAM ON RADIO

Broadcast Scheduled Monday Night at Station WOSU.

Marion county 4-H club work will be the subject of a radio broadcast Monday night at 8:15 when several Marion county residents will present a program on Station WOSU at Columbus.

The station, operated by Ohio State university, is conducting a series of 4-H broadcasts on its regular Monday "farm night" schedule. The station is located on the dial at 570 kilocycles.

The program will include three songs by Miss Peggy Jean Keefe and Miss Maxine Boarman accompanied by Miss Martha Greenawalt, all of LaRue; an interview on 4-H work and a roundtable discussion on projects planned for this year.

The songs to be presented include the 4-H friendship song, a school song and "Dreaming."

Miss Betty Key of Claridon and Mrs. Homer Heller of Agosta, club leader, will be interviewed by the announcer, Philip Bailey. Taking part in the roundtable discussion will be Harold Denman of Waldo and Lowell Douce of Martel, both speaking as 4-H members.

All the Marion county residents on the program are 4-H members excepting Mrs. Heller who is a leader.

The program will last 15 minutes.

County Agricultural Extension Agent Homer S. Porteus and Miss Leta Gigax, home demonstration agent, will accompany the group to Columbus.

REFUSAL TO SELL BEER STARTS MARYSVILLE ROW

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, April 5 — The refusal to sell beer to two men Tuesday night here was the start of a series of events leading to the jailing of one man with charges of assault with intent to rob placed against him and the search for another man and two sets of charges being filed in two justices of the peace courts.

When Mrs. Pat Hensel refused to sell beer to Pearl and Louis E. Rausch of this city last night a fight ensued. Mr. Hensel filed charges of assault and battery against the two men in Justice J. C. Hartshorn's court. Immediately after that the two Rauschs then filed similar charges against Hensel in the same court.

Yesterday Hensel withdrew his charges against the Rauschs in Hartshorn's court and placed a charge in Justice Richard C. Thrall's court of assault with intent to rob against the Rauschs.

ANSWERS NOT KNOWN BY PRESIDENT'S MOTHER

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 5—President Roosevelt's decision on whether he will seek a third term must be a well-guarded secret for not even his mother knows the answer.

The President's 85-year-old mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, said at a press conference yesterday that her son had never said anything to her about running for a third term.

Commenting on his possible candidacy, Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"I think he probably knows more than most people who would run for president."

a great deal of imagination and is well read.

After being questioned for awhile, Chloe sat down with Captain Edwards and ate a hearty steak dinner. When he refused to order her a bottle of beer she snapped.

"Mother and I split a bottle a couple of days ago."

Captain Edwards said the 80-pound fair-haired, blue-eyed Chloe first told him calmly and with no sign of tears that her mother, of medium height and build, killed the three children with the hammer, saying that "demons" were after her.

"Conks" Her 50 Times

Then, at the request of her mother, Chloe said she took the weapon and "conked" her about 50 times on the head and body until the head broke off the handle of the hammer, then beat her with the handle "until she stopped breathing."

Repeated questioning of the girl and subsequent development of the discrepancies, however, led Edwards to conclude, he said, that Chloe awakened while her mother was still in bed; went to the kitchen where Marquis and Daphne were playing and fatally bludgeoned them, then encountered her mother in the hallway, struck her down with the hammer and beat her to death.

Chloe, suffering from a head injury police believe she either suffered in a struggle with her mother or she inflicted upon herself with the hammer to substantiate her story that her mother was responsible for the crime, answered police questions with no show of emotion and then sat down and ate a meal.

One of Chloe's stories, Edwards said, was that her mother killed the children, set fire to her hair and then ordered her to strike her with the hammer to "stop this pain."

Police planned to renew their questioning of the girl today with the aid of her father who moved here with his family five years ago from Grand Springs, Mich.

Seems Unconcerned

Enroute home from the police station for a reenactment of her version of the crime, Chloe waved airly to schoolmates who, faces white with terror, were clustered on the lawn.

Inside the house, she walked spritely through rooms whose walls were splotched with blood, telling her story in a lively chatter, Edwards said.

At one point, she strolled over and started to play a small organ purchased for her by her father, of whom she once remarked: "He's nuts."

Pointing to some books in her room, Chloe said:

"I'm a bookworm. I read all the time."

Little Patricia Axtell, a neighbor, told police she once saw Chloe fly into a rage and beat her mother repeatedly with a broomstick when her mother refused her a nickel for candy. She also said Chloe refused to obey her mother in simple household duties.

During the questioning of Chloe, her father once broke into tears and muttered "oh, my poor baby!"

Chloe looked up and, almost sneeringly, remarked:

"Buck up, dad. Don't let it get you down."

Then she reached for the comic page of a newspaper and asked not to be disturbed as she read her favorite strips.

Early in the questioning, Chloe became hungry and demanded some "lemon pie and chicken soup."

When her order was filled, her eyes gleamed, and she exclaimed:

"Oh, boy! That's my favorite dish."

She devoured the pie in a few quick bites and then ate the soup.

Captain Edwards said Chloe is strong for her age. She stands 4 feet 11 inches tall.

Mrs. Davis was about a head taller and nearly 40 pounds heavier than Chloe, but officers pointed out that the mother was anemic, and that the healthy, well-developed child could doubtless have bested her in a struggle. Mrs. Davis was almost scalped by the hammer blows and the heads of the three children also were badly battered.

Both Chloe and her father told Edwards Mrs. Davis had never before talked of "demons" or exhibited any sign of insanity. Davis added that she was "as normal as any woman could be."

White, Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland and William J. Kennedy of Cleveland.

Davey promised to increase Ohio old age pensions to a maximum of $40 and accused Bricker of neglecting the highways and causing $10,000,000 damage.

Kennedy Raps Foes

Kennedy feared the Democrats might not be able to win the November election "with our state ticket headed either by a demonstrated loser or a candidate whose political thinking is as hard and fossilized and cold and old as the rock-bound coast of Alaska."

Mosier promised legislation to outlaw in Ohio "the Communist party or any other party dominated by a foreign government."

White chatted informally and told stories to his listeners.

John McSweeney of Wooster, seeking the U. S. senator nomination, asserted the reelection of President Roosevelt was "our only hope of keeping out of war." He said the President would like to see the economic problems of foreign countries solved so they could become customers of the United States.

In Cleveland, guests at the 100th anniversary banquet of the Republican Tippecanoe club heard C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago describe the Republican party as "the only agency available to save this nation and guarantee that we stay at peace with the world." Brooks is a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in Illinois.

TWO KENNEDYS ON MAY PRIMARY BALLOT

COLUMBUS, O., April 5 — The name of Kennedy will appear twice on the May 14 primary ballot for the Democratic secretary of state nomination.

Common Pleas Judge Robert P. Duncan yesterday refused to enjoin Secretary of State George W. Neffner from placing the name of Earl Kennedy of North Olmsted on the ticket.

Patrick J. Kirwin of Columbus sought the injunction on behalf of John J. Kennedy of Cleveland Heights, also a candidate for the nomination, contending that some of the signatures on Earl Kennedy's petitions were invalid.

Judge Duncan found "no allegation of fraud or collusion in the petition."

ABOUT ANYTHING

In and Around Marion

...andy Number

...April 1, 1941. O. W. Mc... and his wife will be ... the police department ... number on their car.

... pointed out to them ... evening by Patrolman ... who had been at their ... North State street earlier ... on police business. ... Mahaney was explaining that when she had to call the department she was so excited it was minutes before she found the number in the telephone book.

"No need for that any more," the patrolman replied, "you've got it right there on your car." Sure enough, their licenses, "Q" series, carry the department's phone number—4173.

April 1 Backfire

A North Prospect street man had to offer apologies the morning of April 1 to a man who stopped at his door.

He wasn't going to be the butt of his young son's April Fool jokes so when the lad called there was a man at the door to see him the fool-proof father yelled out, "Tell him to go jump in the lake."

But there was a man at the door, the boy wasn't April Fooling and Dad was terribly embarrassed.

* * *

Frank About Age

At least one Marion woman apparently isn't ashamed to let the world know how old she is.

Applying for license plates for her car here the other day she asked the clerk if she could have license plates bearing the numbers 1901, the year of her birth. She took another number when informed that her birth date was not included in the series at the license bureau.

False Hopes

In the rush of dressing, the Marionite was managing to keep tab on the Horace Heidt program the other evening. The process of selecting the winning telephone number was completed and Heidt was explaining that the operator was placing the call but the phone hadn't rung yet.

In a split second the Marionite's phone rang long distance. He dashed downstairs, grabbed the phone and yelled loud "Hello's." No answer. Back upstairs and again the long distance signal sounded. He bounded down again. —Heidt hadn't yet got his party according to the radio announcements—and again shouted loud "Hello's." This time he got an answer but it was no glad tidings of great wealth. It was from the western part of the county and was strictly business.

Pedestrian's Plight

One of the recommendations in Marion's WPA traffic survey, recently reported in The Star, is that legislation be passed by council to penalize pedestrians who do not obey traffic signals.

This brings to mind some pointed comments made several years ago by a city official who is as sincerely concerned about the traffic problem as any one else in Marion.

"Personally, I think your chances are better crossing a street against a red light than when the light shows green," he remarked. "When the light is red, you know you have to watch traffic from the right and the left, but you don't have to worry about cars swinging around a corner and heading toward you.

"On the other hand, when you cross on a green light, you don't have to watch traffic from the left or right, but it seems there's always a car coming around a corner toward you about the time you get in the middle of the street. The fact the pedestrian has the light in his favor frequently makes him less cautious and consequently the element of danger is increased."

The official was skeptical about the protection given him by the city traffic ordinance, which provides that pedestrians shall have the right of way at intersections when the traffic lights are in their favor. Automobiles making a right or left turn are required by the code to yield the right of way to pedestrians, but few drivers do it.

"After all," the official asserted, "you may have the right of way but you're on foot and the other guy's in a car or a truck, which makes you a loser in the argument even if you're legally in the right."

NEWSPAPER ADS FAVORED OVER RADIO BY WOMEN

By The Associated Press

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 5—Professor Frank Hutchinson of the Rutgers university department of journalism said today a survey of 286 New Brunswick and Highland Park housewives showed that nine out of ten believed newspaper advertising more helpful to them than radio advertising.

The survey by journalism students also indicated, Hutchinson said, that 93 to 94 per cent of housewives found newspaper advertising helpful in shopping, and that 81 to 83 per cent were aided by the advertisements in "keeping up" with latest styles.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO BUCYRUS LUMBER DEALER

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 5 — Herman P. Roehr, 85, retired lumber dealer, died of pneumonia last night at his home here. He was born in Germany, Oct. 29, 1854, and had lived in Bucyrus since he was three years of age. For many years he was associated with his brother Charles in operating the Roehr mills.

Funeral services will be held at the Munz funeral home and burial will be at Brokensword.

Early Bird Golfers Invading Country Club and Mar-O-Del

Spring Weather Brings Out Links Fans; Delaware Pike Course Opens Saturday.

Early bird golfers, taking advantage of the warm spring weather, have launched a pre-season invasion of the Marion Country club and Mar-O-Del courses. First sign that the links bug is already biting was evidenced last week-end when a host of veterans indulged in their favorite summer pastime.

Bill Schimmel, Country club pro, reported that no less than three score have played over the course since last Sunday. Work on the course has been progressing rapidly this week and with the prospects of another warm week-end an even larger attendance is anticipated. Schimmel opened his pro shop a week ago but the club will not be ready for the 1940 season until later this month.

Mar-O-Del's opening is set for tomorrow noon. Johnny Fife, greenskeeper, directed rolling the the fairways and was to complete a workout on the greens today. Manager George Wilhelm will be in charge of the club house at tomorrow's opening and anticipates a heavy turnout if the weather is agreeable.

Officials at both courses reported fairways, greens and tees in excellent shape for so early in the season. They also indicated that many veteran golfers have been among the early birds. Herb Petrich, last year's Country club champion, served notice that he's going to be in there swinging again this year. He played his first round Sunday in 37-42—79, only five over par for the 18-holes, Pro Schimmel reported.

Mrs. Helen Fugle, former women's titlist at Mar-O-Del, toured the course in company with her husband, Ross Fugle, last week-end. Other early birds at Mar-O-Del were Walter McConnell, Bill Sherman and Greenskeeper Fife, last year's club champion and Marion county titleholder.

PHALANX FORMS 1ST TEAM OF NEW YEAR

Fraternity Squad To Enter Commercial Loop Again.

Formation of the first team for participation in the city's organized softball league was reported today by officials.

The Phalanx Fraternity, a Y. M. C. A. group, has already obtained entry and eligibility blanks to file with the softball commission. The team, under the direction of Manager Woodrow Hartley, will re-enter the commercial league. Last year the club finished as runner-up in that circuit.

Other teams planning to enter the Sunday School, Commercial or Industrial league may obtain the necessary blanks at the Y. M. C. A. They have until April 22 to submit the prepared forms to officials in order to get a spot in one of the leagues.

Prospective members of church teams are being reminded by officials that Sunday school attendance during April is the basis for eligibility when the season opens May 6. Players must attend church three consecutive Sundays before starting play and then must attend at least two Sundays each month.

WILL BE MORE CATCHERS

The present dearth of high class catchers in the big leagues isn't unusual or alarming to Joe McCarthy. He says it's merely a cycle.

Quality

You can tell a Manhattan Shirt. Take the cloth between your fingers and get the fine feel of it. Observe the even perfection with which the collar points line up. Note the clean smooth lines of stitching. Examine the details around the button holes—the sparkling white ocean pearl buttons themselves. See the artistic significance of every detail of design. Note the individuality of the color tones. All these things mean quality—and the mark of quality is on every inch of a Manhattan Shirt. Come in and look Manhattan over.

LOYOLA PICKS COACH

Ohio Sports Chatter

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., April 5—That Nov. 1 football contest between Massillon and Toledo Waite should be quite a thing. Both claimed the state scholastic title last season—Waite after winning 11 straight, including the Buckeye bowl tilt with Portsmouth, and Massillon after not losing to any Ohio team since away back when. If both come up to the big game unbeaten, the fans probably will make their Massillon stadium bulge at the seams.

Ohio Wesleyan hopes the old "like father, like son" adage holds true this spring. The baseball Bishops have Ralph Peckinpaugh, son of Roger Peckinpaugh, at second base; Al Betzel, son of Albert (Bruno) Betzel, at shortstop, and Frank Rickey, son of St. Louis' Frank Rickey, catching. The three dads were among the top-notchers in their big league careers.

Fostoria, smallest of the 16 cities in Ohio boasting organized baseball teams, has hung out the "help wanted" sign. The club decided to make the race again in the Ohio State circuit, but found itself minus a manager and players after the St. Louis Cards decided to cancel their working agreement. So, if you are a rookie or a free agent looking for a baseball job, it looks like Fostoria is your Shangri La.

Here and there about the state: Hillis Hume, Alliance High school great, has passed up several "offers" from Ohio colleges and will attend the U. S. naval academy. A star student, Hume is more concerned about the physical exams than the scholastic, despite the fact he topped the Ohio scorers on the gridiron a couple of years.

If you want to claim a horse at an Ohio track this year, you must have a horse in that race or a previous one at the meeting. The new rule, passed by the state racing commission, goes into effect April 20 as Beulah park opens the bangtail season.

The touring six-day bicycle racers open tonight at Cleveland, after a disastrous showing at Columbus where the fans stayed away in big bunches.

General Excavator Squad Digs Deeper Into Second Place in Recreation Loop.

Although idle, Nu-Way Shoe Repair keglers retained a narrow lead in the Recreation league race at the close of Wednesday night matches. Their match with the Esso Oils was postponed. Meanwhile General Excavator entrenched itself in second place by taking two of three from the Carmel Crisp entry.

Lecturing Knights and Exalted Rulers, holders of the one-two spits in the Elks league, each swept through three straight against respective foes Wednesday night.

GRAND NATIONAL TODAY

By The Associated Press

AINTREE, ENGLAND, April 5 Aintree's emerald turf was fast and hard for the first wartime running of the Grand National steeplechase today, with the track in the best condition of the past three years. This made some difference in the betting on the 31 probable starters. H. C. McNally's Royal Danieli, who jumped last night to the position of second favorite at 9 to 1, was being crowded by Mrs. I. Strang's Professor II priced at 100 to 9.

PAUL WANER SOON 37

NEW YORK, April 5 — On April 16 Paul Glee Waner, known affectionately to his ball playing intimates as "Rat," will celebrate his 37th birthday and open his 15th campaign in the outfield of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Lumberjack and Italian Heavy Billed On Shovel's Monday Night Rassle Show

Oregon McDonald, the untamed lumberjack, tackles rugged Fred Carone of Italy in the heavyweight battle booked as the feature of Monday night's grappling show at the Marion Steam Shovel arena.

Both have been headliners on recent cards in nearby metropolitan centers but the clash here is their first get-together. They will weigh in near the 200-pound mark when they enter the ring for 90-minute main go.

New York City's George Becker, who thrilled fans with his victory over Maurice Leitchford last week, earned a return spot in the semi-final. This time he's due to stack up against the Hawaiian mat expert, Walter (Sneeze) Achu.

Drawing Card

Fans may be expected to turn out en masse to see the Oregon ruffian in action. He's been a highly successful drawing card in the big cities and press accounts tell the reason why. Packing concentrated mayhem in either fist he's likely to use them when there is a point to be gained.

Not only does the Oregonian pack a hefty wallop, he also talks a good fight. He's something on the order of Dizzy Dean, except that after spouting off about his prowess he delivers the goods. He is well-matched in facing Carone who's another of the big city top-notchers.

Carone comes direct from Mussolini-land and his ungentlemanly ring tactics have earned him the rightful title of being a toughie. It hasn't been so long ago that he invaded the front rank of the heavies and he's still riding the crest of a wave of popularity.

Hawaiian Formidable

Spectators who last week saw George Becker put the bee on Leitchford will be anxious to see his second workout in the local ring. His opponent is a formidable chap whom some sports followers may recall. Achu came up from Hawaii to playing a leading role on the collegiate gridiron at Dayton university back in '37. It was there that his college friends dubbed him with the appropriate nickname, "Sneeze."

Bob Anderson and Bob Hulse are paired for the 30-minute curtain-raiser. They will open the card at 8:30. Referee Gene Woodlawn, who did a bang up job of arbitrating last week, is to be returned by popular demand. His expert handling of the fights, particularly the heavyweights, won him a spot in the hearts of spectators.

HOLDOUT OF PYTLAK WORRIES TRIBE FANS

Widespread Interest Shown in Little Catcher's Campaign.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 5 — With the opening of the baseball season less than two weeks away, Cleveland fans are beginning to show more than a passing interest in Frankie Pytlak's holdout campaign.

One baseball writer has demanded the Indians either trade or sign the little catcher. Fans have been flooding newspaper offices with letters defending or condemning the attitude of the club in refusing to boost its offer above $8,000 or swap Pytlak until he signs.

Frankie, who lives in Buffalo, N. Y., spurned the $8,000, representing a $3,500 cut, and stopped answering letters from club officials. He says he won't play for a second-stringer's salary.

Owner Alva Bradley, reiterating he considers the offer "fair" in view of Pytlak's .286 batting average in 63 games last season, says he believes Frankie "has retired from baseball."

"The fact he has refused to answer our last two letters certainly indicates that," Bradley said. "Frankie knows where the League park office is. If he decides to sign for $8,000, we have the contract ready."

Several teams have indicated an interest in a Pytlak trade from time to time, among them Boston, St. Louis and Chicago.

MARION MERCHANTS PLAN FIRST PRACTICE SUNDAY

The Marion Merchants softball team will be active again this season in independent playground competition, Manager Robert Putman reports. Players are being rounded up and will be called together for the first practice session at Garfield park, Sunday afternoon. Any athletes wishing to try out are urged to be on hand. Manager Putman plans to launch the season with a game at the Garfield diamond April 21. He is seeking an opponent for that date and also wishes to book other games. Teams interested are asked to get in touch with him at 603 Wood street or by calling 4595.

them, but the tumblers go right on tumbling.

The Y. equipment here includes parallel bars, flying rings, horses, bucks, spring board and mats, the usual devices in an average gym.

At any rate more and more schools and colleges are developing gymnastic teams and awarding letters in the sport. Interested fans who have never seen tumbling except in a circus may now witness competitive meets in well organized leagues.

The sport requires the elements of strength, muscular coordination, balance and timing in a greater degree than most other sports. Muscles of steel must be kept under as perfect control as the hands of an artist. One little slip on a difficult trick and you might well end up on the floor with a serious injury.

But the idea is not to do any difficult tricks until you know your stuff.

Coaches laugh at the popular idea that gymnastics are dangerous.

Injuries Rare

"Under a competent instructor injuries are not only rare, they are virtually unknown," says Al Trenlar, coach of the Los Angeles club.

"Difficult tricks are always approached by easy stages and the agility a man develops enables him to fall safely if anything goes wrong."

The time to start is when you're young before incorrect muscular habits are learned. If you take care of yourself reasonably well, you can enjoy gymnastics probably well into middle age, something few sports can offer.

Cue Champion

Willie Hoppe, sensational New York cue star, clinched the world's three cushion billiards title in Chicago with his 16th consecutive victory in the tournament. Here he is shown executing a difficult shot. In the deciding game he defeated Walter Cochran of San Francisco, 50 to 43 in 46 innings.

As of yesterday Hoppe had won 17 consecutive games in the tournament, a new record. He had only three more to go for a perfect tournament mark.

RULED OFF BALLOT

KENTON, April 5—The Hardin county elections board yesterday ruled that the name of John Lightner Sr. should not appear on the ballot as a candidate for Republican precinct committeeman in Buck township, after finding that names of signatories on his petition were from South Kenton precinct and not from the precinct in which he sought election. The action left Carl Richards unopposed for the Republican post in Buck township.

Ohio Industrial Plants Play Important Role in Mobilization for War Plans

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—Ohio is playing a vital part in Uncle Sam's unprecedented program of industrial mobilization for war.

Aside from production of combat materials, a number of the state's many industrial plants are participating in the war department's "education orders program"—called by army men a vital element in peace-time preparedness.

"Private industry," said Col. H. K. Rutherford, director of the ordnance department, at a house appropriations committee hearing, "would have little or no opportunity to become familiar in peace with items needed in combat were it not for the training program.

"For the more important of these, educational orders are placed as far as funds permit, and there is obtained not only a small actual production of the item but a complete plan for its quantity production in war and at least a sample of special jigs, gages and other equipment needed for the manufacture of munitions."

Colonel Rutherford explained the educational orders system to a congressional committee which drafted the military appropriations bill for fiscal 1941.

Helps Production Schedules

He said that recent experience disclosed that industrial production schedules could be advanced from four to 12 months by the use of educational orders.

These, supplemented by production studies, he added, constituted "a most important element in the war department plans for the mobilization of industry."

"As a matter of fact," the colonel declare, "the training of industry for munitions production is the keystone of industrial preparedness, and funds made available for educational orders strike directly at the principal cause of delay in munitions production.

"It is hoped that eventually all plants scheduled to produce critical noncommercial items in war can be so trained and that the entire war program of production can be advanced accordingly."

Thus, Colonel Rutherford reasoned, "it may be said that industrial mobilization adequate for national defense visualizes almost complete dependence upon a peace industry to be converted to war purposes, when needed, in the quickest practicable time. This contrasts with the European plan of maintaining huge munitions industries in being as such in times of peace."

Only Few Items Covered

Colonel Rutherford said that educational orders funds made available previously were sufficient to cover only about 35 "important problem items."

"The remainder of the 1,200 we are endeavoring to provide for by the purchase of production plans only, but the results will, of course, not be so satisfactory."

Educational orders were awarded to several Ohio industries during fiscal 1940. These companies, the items ordered and the prices included:

The Kilgore Manufacturing Co., Tippecanoe City, parachute flares, $13,331; Unexcelled Manufacturing Co., Reading parachute ground signals, $8,241; the National Cash Register Co., Dayton, fuse, $70,132; Robbins & Myers, Inc., Springfield, machining 75-mm. shell, $85,170; Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Gas Mask carriers, $88,167; Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Fall River, Mass., gas masks, $328,329.

STOCKS REACH HIGHER GROUND

Leading Issues Advance Again Despite Profit Taking by Traders.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 5—Leading stocks brushed off profit takers in today's market and continued to reach for higher territory.

Sizable overnight buying orders gave prices a boost at the start. Near the fourth hour gains of fractions to around a point were a shade in the majority.

The revival of Wall Street's political hopes combined with the growing belief business and industry will turn around and resume the forward march in the next several weeks provided the principal bullish influences, brokers said.

Bonds were selectively improved and commodities did better after early hesitancy. European markets were steady.

Stocks at one time yesterday or in bulk U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central, Boeing, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Coca-Cola, Allied Chemical, Standard Brands, Union Bag & Paper, Westinghouse and Western Union.

In front in the early hours were National Steel, Case, Delaware & Hudson, Lane-Wells, Bell Aircraft and Todd Shipyards.

Motors were keeps most of the day notwithstanding reports from Detroit that sales activities in the first quarter were reminiscent of 1929 and 1937 with some observers suggesting an upward revision in production schedules was likely soon.

Steels were aided not only by the broadening export demand but by indications purchasing by domestic sources recently has shown a good increase with inquiries from the middle west topping those from other sections.

Rails were dropped to contest selling as heartening implications were seen in N. Y. Central's $10,000,000 equipment order involving 50 heavy type locomotives for fast freight and passenger service. It was believed the road about broke even in the first quarter against a deficit of $4,400,000 in the comparable 1939 months.

Boston Wool

BOSTON, April 5—Greasy combing domestic wools were very quiet today. Asking prices were about steady, but largely nominal because of the lack of trading. A few inquiries were being received for wool tops, but little actual business was being closed. Small transactions were being closed occasionally on some kinds of woolen wools.

The Gumps — By Gus Edson

WHAT A LOVELY COUPLE THEY MAKE—THAT YOUNG PRINCE DU FROMAGE IS ONE OF THE MOST GRACEFUL DANCERS I HAVE EVER SEEN—
YOUR PARDON MAME GUMP—DID I HEAR YOU MENTION THE NAME OF PRINCE DU FROMAGE?
WHY YES—THERE HE IS—THAT HANDSOME YOUNG MAN DANCING WITH OUR LITTLE COUNTESS—
FOR YOUR INFORMATION, MADAME PRINCE DU FROMAGE DIED LAST YEAR AT THE AGE OF 109—HE LEFT NO HEIRS AND HIS TITLE IS NOW EXTINCT—WHAT?

LAND SAKES! WHO DOES SHE THINK SHE IS?
BUT MAYBE SHE'S RIGHT, GRANNY
MAYBE MOTHER MIGHT DRINK SOME TEA IF WE GOT AN EXTRA TEMPTING KIND LIKE LIPTON'S.
BUT YOUR MOTHER TOLD ME NOT TO BUY LUXURIES.
LIPTON'S ISN'T A LUXURY, YOU SEE, IT HAS SUCH A RICH FLAVOR IT GOES A LOT FARTHER.
YOU MEAN, IT'S ACTUALLY THRIFTY TO BUY LIPTON'S?
YES, GRANNY, WE FIGURED IT IN COOKING CLASS—LIPTON'S TEA COSTS LESS THAN 1¢ PER CUP.
IT'S LIPTON'S, DARLING... I KNEW YOU'D LOVE IT! AND IT'S REALLY ECONOMICAL!
